Delay Probe On Nation's Space Program

Officials Don't Want to Testify Pending Message

Washington — Plans for launching an investigation of the nation's space program on the opening day of congress have been blocked by the reluctance of government officials to jump the gun on President Eisenhower.

The house committee on science and astronautics had hoped to get going today on a full scale inquiry into the status of U.S. efforts to overtake Russia in space exploration. Top administration figures balked at testifying before Eisenhower delivers his state of the Union and budget messages.

Message Tomorrow

The state of the union address will be delivered tomorrow and the budget message Jan. 18. Present plans call for the committee to start its hearings three days later, on Jan. 21.

"Sooner or later in this business you have to talk about money—probably soon," a committee spokesman said today in explaining the postponement. "Nobody wanted to talk about money until the budget message had been given."

Among the witnesses to be called are Allen W. Dulles, head of the central intelligence agency; Sec. of Defense Thomas S. Gates, Jr.; Herbert F. York, director of defense research and engineering; and Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the national aeronautics and space administration.

The hearings are expected to last at least a month.

Johnson's Chances Good, Rayburn Says

Washington — House Speaker Sam Rayburn said today Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's chances of winning the Democratic presidential nomination are very good.

Rayburn is promoting the candidacy of his fellow Texan, who has not formally announced as an aspirant. "He's my candidate," Rayburn said at his first news conference of the new session of congress.

Rayburn said he has not discussed the possibility of obtaining the support of former President Harry S. Truman for Johnson, but added that he would accept any support he could get.

Truman's first choice for the nomination reportedly is Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Tommy Manville to Marry Eleventh Time

New York — Tommy Manville, 65, the marrying millionaire, took out a license today to make a 20-year-old waitress his eleventh wife.

She is Christine Erdlen, who came to the United States several years ago from Heidelberg, Germany, a small town near Stuttgart.

Manville met her four months ago in a White Plains, N. Y., restaurant.

He told newsmen he was attracted to her because: "She was a working girl. She loves home life. She's a wonderful cook. She does not care for the theater or night life and she doesn't drink."

Issues Expected to Emerge for Next Fall's Campaigns; Many Investigations to be Launched

Washington — Congress got back into business today. In this presidential election year every member was certain of one main item of business: Politics.

Out of this final session of the Eisenhower administration will be hammered the fresher issues for next fall's elections. It could make or break the hopes of members aspiring to gain higher office or hold what they have.

A consciousness of this stood out clearly amid the handshaking, back-slapping and good fellowship that always attends the reconvening of congress.

Already plans are shaping up for investigations in many fields — foreign affairs, defense policy, television, outer space, drug prices and boxing. Such hearings keep a legislators' name before the public and sometimes influence votes.

Education Aid Issue Due for early consideration are civil rights and aid to education bills—subjects that divide congress, carry a lot of emotional impact and have political overtones.

Today's house and senate sessions were limited to the formalities of reconvening and swearing in new members.

Tomorrow, President Eisenhower will deliver his state of the Union and budget messages.

Pope Deplores Lack of Faith In Holy Gospel

Saddened Because Some People Regard It as Fairy Tale

Vatican City — Pope John XIII said today he was saddened to learn some people regard the Holy Gospel as only a fairy tale. He obviously was referring to a broadcast two days ago by Moscow radio.

On Epiphany, the holiday commemorating the twelfth night after Christmas when the Wise Men brought gifts to the infant Jesus, Pope John told 1,000 pilgrims:

"Not all the voices are unanimous in remembering the birth of the Savior. It is painful, really, to notice that after 2,000 years of studies of the shining truth which exists between men — that on which there can be only agreement — some people define Christmas as a fable."

Moscow Report The people the pope undoubtedly was talking about were the rulers of the Soviet Union. In a broadcast for Soviet home consumption, Moscow radio said Monday Jesus Christ never existed and Christmas was a capitalist plot to keep the working people in chains.

"The Soviet people do not need the gospel fairy tale about the nonexistent Jesus Christ," said the broadcast, "in a fairy tale about God."

"Nevertheless," said Pope John, "the gospel is a reality which triumphs over men and over time. . . ."

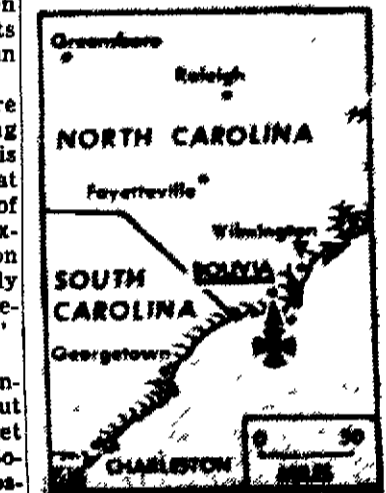

"Must we, who have filled the libraries with our studies of the gospel, hear that the gospel is nothing more than a tale? And from whom? From representatives of those who would like to be our brothers."

Observers Think Craft Exploded

Bolivia, N.C. — A National Airlines night coach flying non-stop from New York to Miami crashed with 32 persons aboard before dawn today in swampy wood lands near here.

"There will not be any survivors," said Deputy Sheriff H. G. Ratcliff.

Seventeen bodies had been recovered late this morning. Reporters on the scene said the big plane appeared to have exploded in the air and debris and bodies were scattered over an area of 20 acres.

The 4-engine ship, making one of two substitute flights carrying vacation-bound passengers originally booked on a canceled jet flight, struck earth 2 1/2 miles southwest of Bolivia, a hamlet 25 miles southwest of Wilmington.

The other substitute plane, an Electra turbo-prop plane, reached Miami safely with 76 passengers and crew members.

The plane that crashed carried 27 passengers and a crew of five.

Its passengers included retired Navy Vice Adm. Edward Orrick McDonnell, who held a congressional medal of honor and numerous other decorations for World War II service.

Sen. Thurmond's Wife Dies in Washington

Washington — Mrs. Jean Crouch Thurmond, wife of Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) died today. She was 33.

She underwent surgery last September for removal of a brain tumor after a partial paralysis of her left side. A second brain operation was performed yesterday at the clinical center of the national institutes of health in Bethesda, Md., near here.

Doctors said she was afflicted with a rapidly progressing malignant brain tumor.

The Thurmonds were married Nov. 7, 1947, while he was governor of South Carolina. She had been his secretary. He was 44 at the time and she was 21.

Legislature May Recess Due To Continued Tax Stalemate

No Final Decision on Issue Indicated Until Next Spring

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A weary state legislature returned to the capitol today amid signs that the Democratic administration forces may relent and support a stubborn Republican demand for a postponement of tax increase legislation until late spring.

Informal reports suggest Gov. Nelson and leaders of the Democratic controlled assembly may agree to another legislative recess. It would be the only alternative to a continued stalemate with the Republican controlled senate.

The Democrats fear the stalemate will bring hostile reaction from the public.

Worker Killed in Paper Mill Blast

Tacoma, Wash. — An explosion blasted a steel drumhead half an inch thick into the midst of a group of men around a time clock yesterday as the shift was changing at a paper factory.

Jack Apthorp, 43, was killed by the flying piece of metal as he punched out to go home. Seven other men were burned, three of them critically, by live steam. The drumhead pierced a wooden wall after hitting Apthorp.

The explosion occurred in a steamheated paper drier placed in operation Monday at the Container Corporation of America plant.

Oscar Kretschmer, general manager, said a small steam leak had developed in the drier. He said he had planned to shut it down today for repairs. Meanwhile, he said, an adjustment had been made in the steam pressure.

Rep. George McGovern Will Oppose Mundt

Mitchell, S. D. — Rep. George McGovern (D-SD) announced today he will be a candidate for the senate this year.

He would thus oppose Sen. Karl Mundt, a Republican serving his second term in the senate after previous service in the house.

Featherbedding Series Begins In Today's Paper

How widespread is featherbedding in the country's railroad and related industries?

That question is being pursued in a series of three articles beginning in the Post-Crescent today. Both sides of the picture have been developed by Roger Greene, Associated Press newsfeatures writer.

Today, on Page D-12, he describes in broad terms the essence of the problem, outlining industry and union objections to each other's plans.

The series is an informative look at what some political analysts consider the hottest problem on the American scene today — the labor problem.

Muddy Water Halts Hunt for Ancient Cities

Amman, Jordan — Muddy water has suspended a frogman search for the ruins of Sodom and Gomorrah on the floor of the Dead sea.

Two amateur divers ended a week-long underwater search yesterday. They said mud and silt cut down visibility.

The searchers are Vincent Barwood, a professor at the American university in Beirut and a former Canadian army frogman, and Melvin Rizzio, an officer with the U.S. technical aid mission in Amman.

Their quest for the 4,000-year-old biblical cities was inspired last spring when, flying over the Dead sea, they spotted what looked like a long wall on the bottom.

Gun Wasn't Loaded

Bank President With Rifle Prevents Holdup

Bancroft — A bank president, armed with an unloaded rifle, routed a gunman who tried to hold up the Bancroft State bank Tuesday.

Jesse L. Judd, the bank executive came out of a rear office after the would-be bandit fired a shot into the floor where a customer sat in a chair.

Fired Into Floor "I think I told him to get out," Judd said. "He really moved, too. I ran out so fast with the gun in my hand that I didn't have time to load it."

Two women employees, Mrs. Jenny Hansen, 28, of Plainfield and Mrs. Alice Polley, 27, of Bancroft were in the bank when the gunman entered but were out of his sight. The customer, Theodore Tymuss of Westfield was waiting to see Judd.

"He told me to lie down on the floor and I thought it was a joke," Tymuss said. "Then he fired a shot from a snub-nosed revolver into the floor near my chair."

When Judd came out brandishing his rifle the gunman fled. The bank employees said he escaped in a 1955 or 1956 Oldsmobile. A roadblock was set up immediately by authorities from Wood, Portage, Adams and Waushara counties but no trace was found of the man. Bancroft is located between Wisconsin Rapids and Stevens Point in Portage county.

The man was described as about 30 years old, six feet tall, with long sideburns and a mustache and wearing a plaid jacket or shirt.

The Bancroft bank was held up by two men on Aug. 6, 1958. They were apprehended within two hours at Wisconsin Rapids.

Rayburn Says Civil Rights Measure Can be Speeded

Washington — Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) said today civil rights legislation can be passed by the house within the next two weeks if enough members want it.

He told a news conference just before the opening of the new session of congress that the easy way to get a civil rights bill to the floor would be for a majority of the 437 house members to sign a petition taking the measure from the house rules committee.

But Rayburn said he was not advocating this course. A civil rights bill drafted last session by the house judiciary committee is now frozen in the rules committee, which is dominated by a coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans.

A discharge petition is currently before the house to force the bill out of committee to the floor, but thus far is still short of the required 219 signatures.

"I've never signed a discharge petition — I'm just pointing out that the easy way to get it (civil rights) up is to sign a petition," Rayburn said. "If they want the bill, it's pretty easy to put their names on the petition."

Civil rights has been made a top legislative item by the congressional leadership. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas has tentatively scheduled action by Feb. 15.

If a bill ever gets to the floor of the house, Rayburn said, "it will pass in some form."

And, by following the discharge petition route, the house "can get a bill up in 10 days or two weeks," Rayburn asserted.

Anti-Semitic Hate Campaign Spreads

Initial Outcroppings Reported in East Germany; FDR Memorial in Norway Painted With Slogans

Berlin —AP— First evidences in East Germany of the current worldwide wave of anti-semitism were reported today. Mexico and Canada's west coast also reported their first outcropping of the hate campaign, and the daubing of swastikas and anti-Jewish slogans continued in other countries.

"Potsdam Jewish country tradesman" was painted during the night on the foundation of the Franklin D. Roosevelt monument overlooking the harbor of Oslo, Norway.

Police officials, particularly in West Germany and West Berlin, carried on diligent investigations to determine what was behind the outbursts of hate-mongering that began with the smearing of a new synagogue in Cologne on Christmas eve. But there was no announcement of any significant finding.

Voice Abhorrence
Religious leaders voiced abhorrence at the global rash of anti-Jewish incidents. And they called for firmer commitment to principles of brotherly love among all men.

The plea came from high-ranking churchmen, both in this country and abroad. They described the widespread anti-semitic acts as an offense to all faiths.

There also were appeals for social measures and fuller educational efforts to erase vestiges of prejudice and racism, particularly in Germany.

The first reports of anti-Jewish slogans in East Germany came in West Berlin newspapers. The paper BZ said communist police found a swastika and the now-familiar words "Juden raus" (Jews get out) painted on a shop window in a workman's district of East Berlin.

Another West Berlin paper reported an anti-Jewish slogan painted at Oranienburg, in the communist area north of Berlin.

BZ said someone who said he represented the neo-Nazi "national youth of Germany" had telephoned, demanding that the paper stop printing items about neo-Nazi organizations or "there will be consequences you will not be able to overlook." The West Berlin police said yesterday steps were being taken to ban the national youth group as well as the league of nationalist students.

In what possibly was a reaction to the flareup of anti-semitism, protests were made in London against a scheduled lecture at Britain's national film theater by Leni Riefenstahl, once Hitler's favorite movie actress.

The Hon. Ivor Montague, leftist British journalist and a Lenin peace prize winner, cancelled his lecture on the Bank Teller Charged With Embezzling

New York —AP— A Long Island bank teller has been charged with embezzling $7,100 to cover family savings she spent buying meals for fellow women employees in a bid for popularity.

Mrs. Marietta Rita Sibley, 27, Freeport, N. Y., was arraigned Monday before a U.S. commissioner in Brooklyn. She waived a hearing and was released on her own recognizance pending grand jury action after the commissioner was told all the embezzled money had been paid back.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Peter Passalacqua told the commissioner Mrs. Sibley took the money over a 2-year period from the North Merrick branch of the Meadowbrook National bank where she was head teller.

Passalacqua said Mrs. Sibley's husband, Richard, 31, an insurance adjuster, suggested to his wife that she move their savings account to the North Merrick bank when she started working there.

Afraid to tell her husband she already had spent all the money in the account buying meals for fellow employees at a previous job, Mrs. Sibley began taking money from the till and opened an account with it, Passalacqua charged.

The money was repaid to the bank by relatives. If convicted on the embezzlement charge, Mrs. Sibley could get up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Investigations In Many Fields Are Scheduled

Foreign Affairs, Boxing Included On Probe List

Washington —AP— Foreign affairs, defense policy, television, outer space, drug prices and boxing are among the subjects for congressional investigation this year.

The senate foreign relations committee is scheduled to undertake one of the most exhaustive studies of U. S. foreign affairs in years. Top government officials and outside experts will be called as witnesses in hearings that will begin early in the session.

The senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee has two big hearings on tap. One will be a continuation of its investigation of drug prices, with tranquilizers coming under scrutiny next, probably late this month.

The other will deal with alleged underworld infiltration of professional boxing. No date has yet been set.

Defense Policy
Defense policy, including U. S. missile programs, is due for sweeping investigation in both houses. The senate space committee and the house science and astronautics committee have scheduled parallel hearings on all phases of the subject, while the house armed services committee will concentrate on the armed forces.

Foreign trade will be the subject of prolonged hearings by the senate commerce committee. These will explore the basic position of the United States in the competition for world markets.

Look at TV
The commerce committee is also planning to take a look at the television industry to see whether it has cleaned up the practices uncovered in last session's investigation of quiz shows.

The house legislative oversight subcommittee, which hit the headline jackpot with those TV quiz hearings, is moving into the field of payola—or undercover payments for favors—this session. Television, radio, the recording industry and music publishers will be the principal fields of the new inquiry.

Foreign aid, with particular emphasis on the development loan fund, will be examined by the house government operations subcommittee.

The house veterans' affairs committee is going to look into the administration's procedures for investing the multi-billion dollar veterans' insurance trust fund. Chairman Olin Teague (D-Texas) has charged that the money is being invested at interest rates well below the market.

Must Take New Look

Hold Open Possibility of Humphrey Entering Ohio Preference Primary

Washington —AP— Aides of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) held open today the possibility he may yet enter Ohio's presidential preference primary.

"We'll take a look at Ohio," a Humphrey spokesman said, in the light of Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's announcement yesterday that he would run as a favorite son pledged to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Can't Be Counted Out
Humphrey himself told a National Press club audience shortly after the announcement that he had not given any real consideration to a race in Ohio. But the aide said the development requires some new thinking on Humphrey's part. Humphrey cannot now be counted out of Ohio or any other primary at this time, he added.

Both Humphrey and Kennedy are announced aspirants for the Democratic nomination, and may be the only ones to make active primary races outside their home states. Others mentioned as likely contenders have indicated no plans for such contests.

On the Republican side, Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said Vice President Richard M. Nixon "must come out fighting for liberal measures" if he expects to win the presidency.

Both Aiken in an interview and Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) at a news conference discounted contentions of some critics

Macmillan in Ghana On First Leg of Tour

Tells Welcoming Crowd He Has Come To See, Learn; Talks With Officials

Accra, Ghana —AP— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived at the brilliantly decorated Accra airport today on the first leg of his 15,000-mile fact-finding tour through Britain's restive colonies and commonwealth members in Africa.

Macmillan was greeted by Ghana's prime minister Kwame Nkrumah, who led his country to freedom nearly three years ago after being imprisoned by the British.

Good Will
Nkrumah noted that Macmillan is the first British prime minister to visit south of the Sahara while in office.

He said he hoped the visit will strengthen goodwill, not only for Ghana and the United Kingdom, but for Africa and the world.

Macmillan in replay said he came "to see and learn."

About 2,000 Ghanians were at the airport, some in brightly colored native robes. Flags from the commonwealth countries flew from the airport building and a band in red uniforms played lifting melodies.

Macmillan, his wife and 17-member party were driven into the city in a motorcade led by two motorcycles. Only a few people watched along the route, from which traffic was blocked by police. No big reception had been planned, in contrast with the warm welcome for Prince Philip several weeks ago. Queen Elizabeth's husband was greeted by throngs of people and flag-waving school children.

Chief of State
Macmillan's talks with Nkrumah are expected to deal mainly with Ghana's relations with Britain, and particularly Nkrumah's plans to make Ghana a republic within the British commonwealth, like India and Pakistan. This would elevate him to the status of chief of state. At present the queen is the head of state, represented here by a governor general.

Reduction in Hearing Loss Claims Upheld
Madison —AP— A rule reducing industrial hearing loss claims to allow for effects of advancing age was upheld Tuesday by the state supreme court.

The industrial commission rule cuts hearing loss awards by one-half of 1 per cent per year for each year over the age of 50.

The reduction is in addition to a cut, set out specifically by law, of 2½ per cent for each year over a declining number of years the applicant will spend in the labor force.

The high court, in a decision written by Justice William Dieterich, held the rule is used to apportion hearing loss between effects of industrial noise and advancing age. It upheld an earlier ruling by Judge Richard Bardwell in Dane county circuit court.

Walter Janiszewski, who retired last year from work in the drop forge department of the Ladish company in Milwaukee, challenged the rule.

Scott contended Nixon "is not in any sense an old guard candidate," and never had

Industry, Union Look Forward To Cooperation

Both Pledge Production Boost With Strike End

Washington —AP— Industry and union officials looked forward today to cooperative efforts to boost steel production as formal signings ended their 8-month contract battle.

The United Steelworkers union and the 11 big steel companies Monday signed the 30-month pact they hammered out in marathon negotiations last weekend. The union expects no difficulty in signing up 80-odd smaller companies who always follow the lead of big steel.

"It's been a long struggle. It's over. We look forward to maximum cooperation to do the job we have ahead," said R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the companies.

Give Ovation
Union Head David J. McDonald chimed in, "If you think the American steel industry has been great, you ain't seen nothing yet. Watch us do a job."

Union leaders at the signing ceremony cheered their hatchet-burying. Earlier they had given Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell a thunderous ovation at a closed door union conference. Mitchell sat in on the final negotiations and has given Vice President Richard M. Nixon main credit for ending the 8-month contract deadlock.

Both the executive board and the larger wage policy committee of the union voted unanimous approval of the new agreement before the signing.

Some details of the agreement remained to be worked out, such as improvements in supplemental unemployment benefits. However, no difficulties were anticipated.

It became apparent, with announcement of details of the new steel agreement, that one man more than any other had shaped the terms. He is Edgar F. Kaiser of Kaiser Steel, who broke the solid front of the steel companies, each year over a declining number of years the applicant will spend in the labor force.

The contract with the 11 top companies, closely paralleled the Kaiser contract, although with some differences.

For example, both agreements dispose of the controversial work rules issue by leaving the question up to joint study. The industry had demanded power to streamline its work force to achieve economy. Whatever change is accomplished along this line now will have to be with union consent.

Rockefeller Favors Local Tax Plan to Raise School Funds

Proposes State Funds to Offset Less U. S. Road Cash

BY ROBERT T. GRAY
Albany, N.Y. —AP— Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller proposed to the 1960 legislature today a sweeping local-tax plan to help raise an extra $100 million for schools. The governor also promised a strict pay-as-you-go budget for the state.

In his annual message to the legislature, the Republican governor said his 1960-61 fiscal program would hold the line on state spending, which totals $2,021,000,000 in this fiscal year.

"I am happy to report that we have restored fiscal integrity in the Empire State," Rockefeller declared.

Other highlights of the message urged:
1. Use of state funds to offset declining revenues from the federal highway program and maintain long-range road programs at current levels.

2. An increase from $45 to $50 a week in unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation benefits.

3. Tax relief for many small businesses, modification of truck tax, simplification of procedures for filing state income taxes and a $25 tax credit, instead of $10, for unmarried taxpayers who qualify as heads of households. An estimated 250,000 taxpayers would benefit from the higher tax credit and the state would lose an estimated $3,750,000 in annual revenue.

4. Programs to help workers displaced by automation learn new skills and find new jobs.

5. A broad program against juvenile delinquency, including work camps, improved probation facilities and tougher handling of 15-year-olds involved in serious crimes.

6. A highway-safety program that would tighten laws against drinking drivers, speeders, habitual offenders and careless drivers, would provide for periodic re-examination of drivers and would give parents greater control over junior operators.

7. Establishment of a research center at Cornell university to study climate control as a means of improving output on the farms.

8. Raising to $1 an hour the minimum wage in industries now controlled by the minimum-wage law, some of which pay 75 cents an hour or less.

In disclosing the school-tax plan, the governor said "it is obvious that the local cost of education can no longer be met by property taxation alone."

Under the proposal, several school districts in the same area would be grouped into a federated tax district that would levy non-property taxes—such as sales or local income taxes.

Informed sources indicated about $80 million would be raised under the plan and the state would provide about $20 million in new state aid.

Youths Admit Burglaries in Hilbert Area

$13.70 Obtained in Three Breakins, They Tell Sheriff

Chilton — A series of break-ins last week in the Hilbert area were solved when two youths, Hilbert, juveniles Tuesday admitted the burglaries to Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky.

The youths, 15 and 16, told of breaking into the Central garage at Potter where they took a typewriter, tools, pens, pencils, flashlights and some money from desks and a soft drink machine which they smashed. The pair entered the Hilbert Elevator where several pairs of gloves and two cartons of .22 cartridges were taken.

Also burglarized was the Hilbert Lumber company, where nothing was reported missing, and a break-in attempt at the Pethan Mobile station was thwarted. The three successful burglaries, all committed Wednesday night, netted the youths only $13.70.

Appleton Store
An abortive plan to rob an Appleton department store and beer depot for guns and money eventually led to their arrest. They fled an Appleton patrolman, who succeeded in taking their license number, after being stopped for traveling the wrong direction on a 1-way street Saturday night.

When questioned on the traffic violation by Calumet county police, the driver denied being in Appleton. Kosmosky noticed the similarity of the car's tire tread pattern to the marks at the scene of the burglaries and questioned the youths. He admitted his part and implicated a neighbor boy as his accomplice.

They will appear in juvenile court before Judge D. H. Sebor.

Washington — The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Thursday, Dec. 31.

Madison — The state banking department issued a call today for a statement on the condition of all state banks at the close of business Dec. 31.

Wisconsin Central Reports Month's Loss

A net loss of $286,310 for November, compared to a loss of $121,363 for the same month a year ago, was reported by the Wisconsin Central Railroad company. The 11-month loss figure was $447,076, compared to a net profit of $454,897 for the first 11 months of 1958.

Bogan Granted Merit Raise; Program Hit by Aldermen

A $20-a-month merit increase for Building Inspector Walter Bogan was recommended, after heated discussion, by the board of public works Tuesday. Bogan asked for the raise.

Bogan's increase would be added to 55 other increases, totalling $10,000, approved by the finance committee Monday. All the increases will be voted on by the council tonight.

The method of asking for merit increases came under fire by Ald. Thomas Schneider. "Let's come to some agreement about what you're supposed to do to ask for a merit raise," said Schneider. "Why shouldn't he go directly to the finance committee? That's the way the rest of them were handled." (Street department employee raises first had been presented to the street committee, which took no action.)

Three Persons Hospitalized After Falling

Falls have resulted in hospitalization of two women and a rural Menasha man.

George Demerath, 53, route 1, Menasha, injured his right knee when he fell on a patch of ice near his home Tuesday. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital where he was reported in good condition today.

Greta Zschaechner, 726 State street, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital after she fell down a stairway at her home.

Mrs. Caroline Selig, 49, of 1818 N. Appleton street, was taken to Appleton Memorial hospital at 9:30 a. m. today after she fell on ice on Parkway boulevard.

All calls were handled by Larry's Ambulance service.

Woman Fined On 2 Counts

One Man Pays, Another Forfeits For Topsy Driving

Three motorists, including a woman, have paid fines or forfeited bonds for drunken driving when their cases were heard in courts in Appleton, Little Chute, and Brillion.

Jane Alice Bentley, 33, of 621 N. Meade street, pleaded guilty of drunken driving and driving without a driver's license when she was arraigned Tuesday before Little Chute Justice Anton Jansen. She was fined $100 on the first charge and $45 on the second.

She was arrested Sunday by Little Chute police after the car she was driving struck a parked automobile on E. Main street.

Her companion and owner of the car, Ervin J. Pagel, 53, 1704 N. Ulman street, was fined $20 for permitting an unauthorized person to drive and $10 for drunkenness. He pleaded guilty on both charges.

John P. McGraw, 32, who gave his address as the Brillion hotel, Brillion, was fined $125 in Brillion justice court today.

He was fined $100 for drunken driving and $25 for driving without a license. He pleaded guilty to both charges, explaining he had not applied for a license since his discharge from military service a year ago.

He was arrested by the Calumet county patrol Tuesday on Highway 114 in Brillion. He tested .23 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of drunkenness.

Raymond J. Bodway, 43, of 414 N. Madison street, forfeited bond of $125 in Appleton municipal court this morning when he failed to answer a charge of drunken driving.

He was arrested by Appleton police June 27 when they found him in a ditch along E. Newberry street and Bodway walking around the vehicle. He tested .18 on the drunkometer.

'People Who Live in Glass Houses—'

The quiz show scandals have resulted in a profound change in many aspects of TV presentations and consequently are expected to bring changes in all forms of advertising. Whereas at one time some TV producers were deliberately attempting to deceive the public they now have gone to the opposite extreme. As a result we hear announcers state that "the audience reaction was supplied." This is so the listener will not be misled into thinking there was an audience present applauding the acts of the performers. The contrast between such an announcement and the quiz show faking of a few months ago certainly is the greatest extreme possible and we hope it will continue in all phases.

The Federal Trade Commission as well as some committees of Congress have taken an interest in the quiz show deceptions and apparently intend to carry through until everything is beyond suspicion. For example, a toothpaste advertiser who claims his product leaves a film of protection on the user's teeth may have to prove that this is a fact before the Federal Trade Commission. The automobile dealer who claims the window glass in his cars is clearer than his competitors will have to explain why the windows of his car are photographed while they are open.

This is all to the good of course. There is no excuse for deceiving people with such tricks but it need not stop with the private corporations. Joseph Ator who writes on business and economic subjects for the Chicago Tribune has called upon the Federal Trade Commission to take a look at the activities of its colleagues in the Treasury Department. We are all quite familiar with the advertisements used by the Treasury Department to sell bonds. Ator mentions one in which a father is shown with his young sons. The father is pondering on what will happen when his boy reaches college age. The answer is given in the advertisement for E-bonds. It is indicated that if the father will just buy E-bonds every week all will be provided for when the money is needed.

But the writer points out that if the father buys a bond for $75, at the end of the ten years he will receive $100. This means he will draw 2.9 per cent on his investment but the question is what will his money be worth at the end of the decade. If the father bought a bond the first month they were issued in May, 1941, when he received his $100 in 1951 the money would have only as much as $55.45 would have bought in 1941. Thus he would have lost $44.55 of his principal and all of the supposed interest through inflation.

If any father had purchased a bond in May, 1946, when the bond came due in 1956 it would have bought only as much as $66.01 would have bought when he invested. Thus the investor would have a loss of $33.99 of his principal and all of his interest. Further, if the investor purchased a bond in 1949 and cashed it in 1959 his $100 would have bought as much as $80.10 would have bought when he invested his $75. Thus he would have earned $5.10. If he had to pay 20 per cent income tax on the paper profit of $25 which it earned in the 10 years he would have been left with merely the 10 cents earning for the 10-year period.

Of course if we are going to have absolute truth in advertising and if the government is going to see that that comes about, the government should put its own house in order. In all honesty it should explain that investment in E-bonds provides a safe place to keep the money but that profit is very unlikely considering the history of the country during the past 18 years. Such investment does afford a means of reducing the loss one would suffer if he kept his money in a bureau drawer or stuffed in an old shoe but it can scarcely be considered the fine investment that the government pictures it to be.

Statistical Booby Traps

A favorite device of the spending pressure groups for influencing the unwary electorate is the statistical comparison of public services with other states and jurisdictions.

A handy illustration in the current political grist is the declaration of a Wisconsin Democratic-oriented group concerned with Gov. Nelson's fiscal policies that Wisconsin ranks lower than most states in the proportion of its public expenditures for education in relation to total income.

We don't suggest that this is a deliberate distortion of the facts. A casual reading of some of the recent reports given out at Madison might suggest such a conclusion. Yet it is inaccurate, and dangerously so, precisely because the statisticians who prepared the comparisons failed to note the necessary qualifications.

One of the prime reasons why total disbursements for education in Wisconsin are comparatively low — although they amount to the largest categorical share of state-local spending, about 33 per cent of the whole currently — is the fact that this state has a disproportionate number of its school age young people enrolled in private and parochial schools that have no relation to public tax budgets.

Retirement Rules

Among the minor ironies in the recent news grist was the announcement from Madison that Harold Plummer, the head of the state highway department who was required to retire because he had reached his 65th birthday, has set up a private business in the capital city.

There have been other instances lately of the compulsory retirement of public officials who are seemingly fit for continued service, because of the retirement system rules that are fairly inflexible.

The Plummer case suggests, as we have indicated often before, the wisdom of making a reappraisal of the arbitrary retirement rules related to age and especially in the public services. It is a difficult subject. No doubt there must be a maximum age for service in the interest of adequate performance. There are dangers in excessive liberal laws, as there is manifest waste in the rigorous regulations. But it seems a reasonable proposal would be for a formal review of the laws as they are written, in view of the increasing longevity of the population and the probability that qualifications involving discretion and judgment in high governmental leadership positions are not necessarily related to physical vigor.

Disagrees With Headline on His Letter About Medical Aid

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Would you allow me to correct a misleading impression created by the heading you gave my letter on medical insurance which you were good enough to print on December 31st?

The headline "Feels Only Government Can Insure Adequate Medical Care" is an inaccurate characterization of the theme of my letter. At no point did I advocate government administration of comprehensive medical insurance. On the contrary, I made the following observation: "The government need not handle it; it could be done entirely by private organizations, as now." I did say later in my letter that adequate medical care can be provided for only by social arrangements, but social arrangements are not necessarily government arrangements. In fact, the question of who would administer such a scheme seems to me to be of much less importance than the necessity of having it in some form.

I would like it to be clear that what I am advocating is in no sense "socialized medicine," under which the medical services themselves would be administered by the government, as in Britain. My concern is only with a rational system of handling the cost of medical care, which is a separate matter. The A. M. A. does, of course, label any comprehensive insurance scheme as "socialized medicine," but only because "socialized" is a loaded word. It may be of interest that when public schools were first advocated in this country they were labeled "socialistic."

Of course, it is clear that even under a system of national health insurance administered by private organizations such as Blue Cross, Blue Shield, etc., there would have to be some government financial assistance. The reason is that with insurance being comprehensive and universal the premium would otherwise have to be so high that many people would not be able to pay it. Some tax-revenue would therefore have to be devoted to keeping the premiums at a reasonable level. But I find it hard to think of many better ways of using tax-revenue.

But Iowa Won When It Went to the Rose Bowl

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It is that time of the year for people to look at themselves and their surroundings and take stock of their blessings and correct their shortcomings. The people of Wisconsin and the Fox river valley in particular should thank the good Lord for their wonderful, prosperous community.

Wisconsin residents that are dissatisfied with high taxes, misused taxes or any of the other "petty" gripes expressed in Peoples Forum should move to Iowa for a while.

I live in Iowa for the purpose of attending architectural school which Wisconsin does not have.

Iowa residents are taxed with a state income tax, sales tax of 2 cents on the dollar, personal property tax and the other taxes which, even Wisconsinites are enjoying. People in Iowa pay a tax on their TV sets. I have also heard rumors that the women have been taxed (each year) personal property tax on their diamond ring.

Licenses in Iowa are much more expensive than in Wisconsin. I pay $18.00 for my plates, Mr. Iowa with the same model car pays $22.00.

Wages in Iowa do not meet wages in the Fox valley — one construction worker, that I spoke to was earning $1.50 per hour.

Wood Delivery Business Peppy

25 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 8, 1881.

Messrs. Alvord and Baker have been doing a large business in their wood yard this winter — keeping a couple of teams going about all the time, delivering wood to customers in all parts of the city.

The establishing of the yard has proved a very great convenience to a large class of our residents who have not time to watch Market street for wood supplies nor the frequent annoyance of hunting a man to saw it up.

This firm delivers the sawed wood in any shape desired and it is prompt and obliging in attending to orders.

Sen. Duffy (D-Wis.) was prepared to introduce on the opening day of congress an amendment to the Home Owners' Loan act providing for an additional billion dollar appropriation.

Discussion of proposed federal employment insurance plans were to feature a meeting of retailers in Oshkosh Friday. A number of merchants from Appleton, Neenah and Menasha were planning to attend.

Clarence Trentlage, Appleton, and John Born, Dale, left for Minneapolis, Minn., where they were to attend the Dunwoody Institute. Both young men, employed at the Service Bakery, were to study different kinds of baking.

Soviet plans for transforming the howling Siberian wilderness into a modernized territory continued to unfold — at least on paper. With double-tracking of the Trans-Siberian railway actually under way, Soviet leaders were fond of declaring their ability under what they termed "socialist construction methods" to perform in four or five years a job which occupied the American and Canadians for three quarters of a century in the development of their west.

Both Parties Can Justify Legislative Session

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The members of the marathon legislature are the capital after a recess, and if their leaders are the realists they ought to be they may be reflecting privately on how long the patience of their constituents will last.

cause of low wages. Milk is 45 cents per half gallon.

Entertainment in Iowa is the new low in the entertainment field that everyone talks of. Iowa is a dry state and the bars close at 12:00 p.m. and serve only 3.2 per cent beer. If one wishes to buy liquor he must first buy a liquor book, another form of tax, and drive to the county seat, in this case, 10 miles away.

Restaurants in Iowa do not meet with the five standards of cleanliness of those in Wisconsin. It is unusual to find clean rest rooms in the Iowa restaurants.

Iowa's "prudish" regime has taken the liberty to ban books the Lieutenant Governor or Governor do not wish Iowans to read.

Iowa's radio stations are "jammed" all day with hog reports, or "I like me" speeches by the hero's of Iowa's always "heroic" athletic teams. They (the radio stations) sign off at 6:00 p.m.

Anyone who still believes they are overtaxed, under paid, over worked, under entertained or just bored . . . move to Iowa . . . you will return promptly, happy to live in a progressive, wholesome, scenic and prosperous community.

Lawrence Says Union Wage Gain Is Loss To U. S. Public

Devaluation of Dollar Could Come in 1960s

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The die has been cast. The steel settlement means more inflation. It could mean a devaluation of the dollar sometime in the 1960's.

For years to come, the "agreement" just reached will plague the management of American industry as well as the unions. Because of this defeat of the public interest, state control of wages and prices may someday spell the end of the voluntary system of negotiation between labor and management. Another costly strike would surely settle the issue in the direction of state control.

The real issue in the steel controversy was not what wages or prices should be raised. It revolved around whether management should have the right to say how many workers should be allotted to certain duties in a plant—in effect, the right to manage.

The unions didn't lose out entirely on this issue. There are vague promises in the new contract that the subject will be studied and some reforms will be instituted on work rules. But the "past practices" provisions stayed in the contract unchanged. On this, the unions won a victory, and the American people lost. Prices will have to be raised to cover these extra costs of inefficiency and unproductive labor.

Inflationary Spiral
For the time being, the companies will not increase prices. They will try to absorb the added costs. But the steel companies buy many products from other industries, and, if the wage-price spiral continues, it is only a question of time when the steel companies will find it necessary to increase their prices.

"We will hold out as long as we can against a price increase," said one steel man, "but we can't tell how long the people from whom we buy will hold the line on prices. If they exercise statesmanship and prudence, maybe they'll benefit by the fight we have made."

The settlement reached does call for a substantial wage increase. It doesn't solve the inflation problem. It doesn't bring the hoped-for stability. Other industries now will be compelled to grant wage increases of similar proportions. The net result over the next five or six years will be a steady diminution in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Could anything have been done to prevent the inflationary settlement of the steel strike? Politicians say no. They argue that, if the strike were resumed, congress would have been compelled to enact restrictive legislation, possibly on compulsory arbitration or wage and price control. Presumably the fear of what congress might do prompted the two sides to agree. But basically it was something else—politics.

Workers' Election
As the presidential and congressional campaign is about to be fought, it is obvious that labor unions have a considerable strength in congress. A majority of the candidates depend to a certain extent on the campaign contributions furnished through labor-union efforts.

The companies had hoped the election among the union members, scheduled to take place under the Taft-Hartley act procedure and based on the "last offer" would at least reveal a considerable opposition to the leadership of David McDonald. While this might be true in some companies—according to the private polls. Both sides came to the conclu-

Tame Deer Taken Away By Wardens

The tame buck deer at the Gordon Kerrigan home is gone. The conservation wardens took it away.

Not only that, but they charged Kerrigan, 37, route 2, Kaukauna, with keeping a pet deer without a game farm license. Kerrigan posted $33.95 bond for trial June 13 in municipal court Tuesday and asked for a jury trial.

Then Kerrigan asked Judge Oscar J. Schmiede to give back the deer—his children want it back, Kerrigan explained. The deer has been taken to the Poyntette game farm until the trial as evidence.

Kerrigan explained to the court that he found the deer crippled and it just hung around the place.

When wardens found the deer it was tied in the barn.

That was to keep it away from other farm animals that day, Kerrigan explained.

Coercive Selling Of Insurance Shows Decline

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Coercive insurance selling in connection with the financing or selling of real estate has apparently declined since a 1957 legislative enactment making such practices illegal, a special study committee has reported here.

The study group was named by Insurance Commissioner Charles Manson.

The Wisconsin Association of Insurance Agents has called for more rigorous enforcement of the law, asserting that sometimes aggrieved parties are reluctant to prosecute and that some local prosecuting officers are not yet acquainted with the terms of the statute.

Both sides had logical reasons for coming to an agreement, but the public interest was not served. Although the steel managements did wage a dramatic fight to emphasize the relationship between the wage-price spiral and inflation, this is not something the steel companies could be expected to carry on indefinitely by themselves. They now have, in effect, transferred the responsibility to the public as a whole.

So it must be recorded that the unions have won a victory, and the public has lost the first round in the big battle of the 1960s to save the purchasing power of the dollar from being further devalued.

Congress Ready for Pre-Election Fights

hower will come up and deliver his annual state of the Union message to a joint session. The message will set out in general terms what he hopes to get from congress. Later, special messages will give more details.

Before congress convened, there was a hint that perhaps the president is a little sensitive to prospective criticism of the gap between this country's missile progress and that of Russia.

This is a subject already tabbed for inquiry by two senators—Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri—who are among those mentioned as possible Democratic presidential nominees.

Attends Services
In a brief, informal talk to officials of his church—the National Presbyterian—Eisenhower cautioned Americans against becoming too hysterical about Russia's achievements in outer space.

The president called for exploitation in this country of the idea that "man is a creature of God and dignity."

Eisenhower had attended morning services at the church where he joined in prayer for success of the new session of congress.

The president, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, some members of the cabinet and members of congress received communion at the 8 a.m. service.

Party leaders already have set a tentative adjournment date—July 4, a week before the Democratic national convention starts in Los Angeles, and three weeks before the Republicans gather in Chicago. There's an outside chance congress may have to return after the conventions.

The annual cry for economy came from Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the house appropriations committee.

"The budget goes up and up every year," complained Cannon last night. "The interest on the national debt goes up and up. Wartime tax rates are kept in effect and there is no hope or expectation of cutting taxes."

"I am very much disappointed at the size of the budget (about $81 billion). It must be cut."

Minor housekeeping details will occupy today's senate and house sessions, with a new member to be sworn in in each branch. On hand to succeed the late William Langer (R-ND) in the senate is another Republican, former Gov. Norman Brunson. In the house, Republican John Kyl of Iowa succeeds the late Steven Carter, a Democrat.

When they are sworn in, the Democratic majority will be 65 to 35 in the senate, and 280 to 153 in the house. There will be four house vacancies.

Senate Republicans have called a meeting this afternoon to discuss legislative strategy. Senate Democrats will huddle tomorrow after the president's address.

The Republicans have knocked down the governor's preferred revenue program, including a plan for a withholding system of collecting income taxes, and are likely also to refuse to support, at least for the present his alternative plan for a rise in the individual income tax rates.

If the Democrats and the governor appear ready to compromise, the legislature may recess at the end of this week to a spring date.

There is little except the tax problem before the houses that could not be disposed of this week.

Worry Over Reaction
Some Democrats are reportedly concerned that the continuation over a period of several months of tax discussions and arguments may distort the Democratic administration's record for the term, the first Democratic regime in a quarter of a century.

The tax publicity already threatens to subordinate the many other achievements of the administration during the year, some of the Democratic politicians are complaining.

The current legislative session has already set a new record for longevity. It convened last January, ran through July, when members recessed, reconvened in November and recessed again for the holidays two weeks ago. Normally a biennial legislature lasts six to seven months, with a brief clean-up session late in the session year.

Palefaces Don't Talk Right Language for Indian That's Drunk
Miami, Fla., — (AP) — Red-skinned Frank Brown, Jr., faced a drunkenness charge and some Indian talking palefaces in court Tuesday.

"Ojus Keehomee?" inquired Asst. State Atty. John Boyer, who said that meant "plenty whisky?" in the language of the Seminoles tribe.

"Drunk," Brown answered. Judge Ben C. Willard suspended sentence and said in Seminole "ha-ee-pas" (you go now). Brown stood fast. "Don't you understand your own Seminole language?" Boyer asked.

pointed at the size of the budget (about $81 billion). It must be cut."

Minor housekeeping details will occupy today's senate and house sessions, with a new member to be sworn in in each branch. On hand to succeed the late William Langer (R-ND) in the senate is another Republican, former Gov. Norman Brunson. In the house, Republican John Kyl of Iowa succeeds the late Steven Carter, a Democrat.

When they are sworn in, the Democratic majority will be 65 to 35 in the senate, and 280 to 153 in the house. There will be four house vacancies.

Senate Republicans have called a meeting this afternoon to discuss legislative strategy. Senate Democrats will huddle tomorrow after the president's address.

Proxmire Won't Block Durfee's Appointment
Washington — (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.), who last year blocked the appointment to the five-member U.S. court of claims, now says he

Dixie Hit by Heaviest Snow In Many Years

Little Rock, the city's heaviest blanket in 38 years—and more snow was forecast for today, with a hard freeze on tap for tonight.

Central Arkansas bore the brunt of the fall. The weather bureau said most central areas received about seven inches. In the northern stretches of the state the fall measured generally from four to five inches, and only the extreme southern portion escaped the storm, and that area was soaked by a chilling rain.

Schools Closed
More than 70,000 youngsters throughout the state were given a holiday from classrooms today; highways under snow offered too stubborn a barrier.

In North Georgia, rain turned to sleet and sleet turned to snow, and the same mixture was forecast for today. The state patrol said some highways were too hazardous for travel, and one — Highway 27 north of LaFayette — was closed.

Snow also fell in Kentucky and the western Carolinas. Throughout the southeastern storm belt, utilities suffered. Some telephone wires were knocked out by sleet and snow. Bus travel was delayed. Trains were late, and some plane flights were canceled.

Southwest Also Hit
The heaviest snowfall of the winter season also slowed traffic to a crawl in the southwest and closed numerous rural schools.

Up to 10 inches of snow blanketed the central Texas panhandle and snow flurries that continued falling early today were expected to leave up to 12 inches in sections of Oklahoma.

Two deaths were blamed on the snowstorm that swept across eastern New Mexico, the northern part of Texas and into Oklahoma. Three other persons were missing in a private plane. Eleven persons were injured when a bus careened out of control on an ice-glazed Oklahoma highway.

Several major highways closed by the storm yesterday were reopened last night but motorists were warned that traveling was extremely hazardous over the ice glazed roads.

More than 200 vehicles were stalled on U.S. Highway 66 near Bridgeport in western Oklahoma yesterday. The additional snow that fell in Texas and Oklahoma during the night was expected to add to the peril of traveling.

Drizzle and sleet that fell south of the snow belt were expected to turn to snow as temperatures dipped below the freezing mark early today, the U.S. weather bureau said.

Temperatures plummeted as skies cleared in New Mexico and the western edge of the Texas panhandle early today. Lows of below zero were predicted for New Mexico and awakened by the noise and she awakened her husband. "We heard an engine going chug-a-chug," he said, "like it was cutting in and out. Then it sounded like tin doors and windows rapping off. Then there was a big boom like dynamite."

Randolph arose and looked out the window. He could see nothing but a small flame which soon went out. He returned to bed.

Early this morning their small son, McArthur, went to the field to see what happened and found the plane. The Negro farmer drove to Bolivia, the nearest phone and an operator connected him with the new Hanover airport at Wilmington. He then waited in Bolivia until highway patrolmen arrived about 7:30 a.m., and guided them to the scene.

Emergency aid and rescue vehicles rushed to the scene. A light rain fell, as rescuers searched for bodies.

Try to Learn Cause
A number of bodies lay among scattered luggage and pieces of the ship.

Lester L. Edwards, a forest ranger, said it appeared to him that the plane might have exploded in flight. This opinion was shared also by Doyle Howard, a reporter on the scene from the Wilmington News.

The FBI sent its special disaster squad to the scene. This was requested by Charles Sharp, nation's vice president. The squad of three fingerprint experts has identified more than 80 per cent of the victims of airliner crashes it has investigated.

Dog Shelter Move Asked By Committee

Humane Society Gets 60-Day Extension As Pound Officer

The Outagamie County Humane society should be given until Feb. 15, 1961, to find a different location for its animal shelter on Weimar court, the city dog committee recommended Tuesday night.

The society's 10-year lease on the sewage treatment plant grounds expires Feb. 14, 1961. The city had not been expected to renew the lease. The society also was told it could continue to function as the city dog officer for another 60 days, subject to council approval tonight. The 90-day trial period ended Jan. 1.

Society President Fred C. Heinemann told the committee he could not give a complete statistical report on the society's pouncing activities during the last three months because the secretary of the society is out of town. He said a complete report would be prepared before the next meeting, tentatively set for Feb. 1.

'Pig Fair' Problem
Heinemann complained about the monthly "pig fair," which brings "at least 20 stray dogs to the city once a month." Peter Melchior, Appleton lawyer and a society director, submitted a draft of an ordinance which he said would reduce the number of strays in Appleton.

The ordinance would require a series of inoculations for all dogs brought into the city, certified by a veterinarian. Owners of uninoculated dogs would be subject to a $20 to $75 fine, or 15 days in jail. The rule would not apply to dogs now owned by Appleton residents, Melchior said.

One alderman criticized the society for releasing dogs to owners without first receiving a receipt for a fee from them. Owners of dogs picked up by the dog officer are supposed to pay a fee in the city treasurer's office, he said. "But the treasurer said not one owner has been in during the last 90 days."

Heinemann replied that pound activities had been turned over to the society "with no minute or detailed instructions. We just began to do the work and no procedure was outlined." Another alderman agreed with Heinemann. Melchior said the society's proposal would remain unchanged—$3,000 yearly to operate as the city dog officer, compared to the $4,100 dog officer budget previously authorized.

Du Pont Gives College Grants

Lawrence Among Recipients of Education Aids

Lawrence college and several other Midwest conference schools have been named recipients of grants given in the Du Pont company's annual program of aid to education. The program is designed to aid fundamental research by schools for strengthening the teaching of science and related subjects.

Lawrence received a grant of $4,000 to be used for advanced teaching. The grants include $2,500 for chemistry teaching and $1,500 for other courses.

Other Midwest conference schools to receive similar $4,000 grants include Beloit, Carleton, Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Monmouth and St. Olaf. A grant was made to the University of Wisconsin for postgraduate teaching assistance work in chemistry. The award provides $1,200 for the St. Olaf and Grinnell colleges each received grants of $4,000 for young people of need who plan to enter the teaching or mathematics field.

Wisconsin also received two other grants from Du Pont. One is $15,000 for fundamental research in science and $5,000 for chemical engineering.

Plan $7,500 Addition to Golf Clubhouse

An estimated $7,500 expansion plan for the Reid Municipal Golf course clubhouse was approved by the board of public works and the park board Tuesday.

The plans, drawn by Architect George Narovec, show a 12 by 30-foot addition to the pro shop, squaring off the building to the west and south. The large porch would be winterized and finished to resemble the rest of the building, Narovec said.

Arthur Jones, park board chairman, said the park board will advertise for bids.

Boldt, Purdy Receive Jaycee Service Awards

Plaques Presented at Annual Dinner for Work, Achievement

Oscar C. Boldt, 512 W. Fourth street, and Bruce B. Purdy, 115 N. Green Bay street, Monday night were presented Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce awards for outstanding community service, personal achievement and ability.

The awards were made at the 28th annual Jaycee distinguished service awards dinner attended by 104 Jaycees and guests at the Appleton Elks club.

Each year an outstanding citizen under 35 is selected for a distinguished service award and an outstanding citizen over 35 is selected for the distinguished citizens award.

Citizen Award
The distinguished citizen award went to Boldt, treasurer and general manager of the Oscar Boldt Construction company.

In presenting the award, Jaycee President Don C. Smith cited Boldt for service on the Appleton Community fund and United Community services, and as a director of the Appleton Rotary club.

Boldt also is a past president of the Appleton YMCA and served on committees promoting YMCA expansion. He is a member of the North Central area YMCA council's board of directors. Boldt also is a past president of the University of Wisconsin Alumni association and a member of the association's board of directors.

He also was cited for church work and business achievement.

Community Services Work
Purdy, president of the International Wire Works, Menasha, and secretary of the Appleton Wire Works, received the distinguished service award.

He is president of the United Community Services of Appleton, a past chairman of the Appleton YMCA building fund program and was active in a citizens' committee

Auto Output Up 1,349,641 During 1959

BY BEN PHLEGAR

Detroit —P— American automakers built 1,349,641 more cars in 1959 than in 1958. Optimistic industry forecasts call for a similar jump in 1960 over 1959.

The five producing companies released figures Monday night totaling 5,593,745 passenger cars for 1959. This compares with 4,244,104 in 1958. Seven million seems to be a general forecast for the new year although in some cases this figure includes up to half a million imports.

During 1959 General Motors, as usual, was the leading producer. Its five car-making divisions built 2,555,247 units, an increase of 186,061 over the previous year.

Ford showed the biggest numerical increase. Its 1959 production of 1,745,409 was up 525,987 units over 1958.

Chrysler held third place in production but lost ground to booming American Motors. Chrysler's division built 737,799 cars, an increase of 156,555 from 1958. American Motors built 401,446 cars, a jump of 184,114 in 12 months.

The biggest percentage gainer was Studebaker-Packard, baby of the five. S-P rose from 56,920 units in 1958 to 153,844 in 1959.

Three Drivers Fined After City Crashes

Motorist's Auto Skids 100 Feet Into Pole; He Pays $50

Three drivers have been fined in municipal court for traffic violations stemming from Appleton accidents.

Howard E. Hartzheim, 29, of 110 Lawson street, Menasha, was fined $50 and charged three points against his driving record for driving too fast for conditions. His car skidded 100 feet Friday at Prospect avenue and Bartlett drive and hit a utility pole. The crash adds three more points to his record.

Robert A. Smith, 24, of 2631 Lyndale drive, was fined $35 and charged four points for failing to have a driver's license and $5 for failing to have a certificate of registration for his car. He was charged after a collision at State street and South alley Friday.

Walter W. Letter, 46, of 531 N. State street, was fined $20 and charged three points for ignoring a stop sign. The resulting crash Thursday at Franklin and Superior streets adds another three points to his record.

Illegal Passing
Charged four points each for illegal passing were Eugene P. Steffens, 20, of 1508 E. Wisconsin avenue, $40 fine and revocation of driver's license for three months, stayed if he is not arrested for a moving traffic violation in the next year; Edward E. Lennake, 31, of 449 W. Eighth avenue, Oshkosh, $25 forfeited; Kurt O. Gerold, 62, Milwaukee, $28.95 forfeited; Donald J. Webster, 39, Milwaukee, $25 fine; Gilbert E. Krueger, 47, Merrill, $28.95 forfeited; and Eugene T. Hickey, 33, of 239 Third street, Neenah, $25 fine.

Charged three points each for speeding were Dennis W. Scott, 21, of 1205 W. Winnebago street, $15 fine, also failing to stop for a stop sign, $15 fine and three points; James D. O'Connell, 23, of 1323 W. Commercial street, $18.95 forfeited; Raymond E. Sommers, 22, route 2, Hortonville, $10 fine; Curtiss E. Sommer, 23, of 307 Cook street, New London, $10 fine; Sidney E. Nelson, 18, route 4, Waupaca, $13.95 forfeited; Darrel D. Land, 27, route 1, Black Creek, $13.95 forfeited; James A. Kohl, 22, of 624 W. Brewster street, $10 fine; and Henry J. Around Home

About 8 p.m. Saturday State Patrolman Duane Jorgensen was watching traffic at Highway 76 and 10 when he saw a car skid through the stop sign, cross Highway 10, soar into the air and roll over four times in a field.

Jorgensen leaped out of his car and ran toward the wreck, expecting to see bodies slung from the careening car lying in his path.

He stepped on something soft, and halted abruptly. All he could see were two eyes shining up at him.

Frantically, Jorgensen tried to draw his gun, not knowing what sort of animal he had uncovered.

Finally, Jorgensen realized he was looking at a fur scarf. It had been thrown out of the car.

His brother patrolmen have contacted game wardens to give Jorgensen a lecture about shooting fur pieces in the field.

Sometimes it's pretty good to start the new year off with some belief in people.

Lloyd Berken, operator of Berken's Piggly Wiggly, 1331 E. Wisconsin avenue, received a crisp, new $5 bill with a note, reassuring his faith in humanity.

"You gave me $5 too much change and I guess I just can't keep it," read the unsigned note.

Granite, denied speeding and posted $13.95 bond for trial May 25.

Assorted Charges
Charged three points each for ignoring stop signs were Oscar A. Wiesman, 43, of 908 W. Bell avenue, $13.95 forfeited; George N. Retson, 43, of 513 E. Frances street, $10 fine; Walter E. Kerlin, 43, Gleason, $13.95 forfeited; Ernest M. Poor, 61, Oconto, $10 fine; Alois P. Van Vreede, 48, route 2, Kaukauna, $10 fine; and Gordon J. Brandt, 17, of 702 S. Douglas street, driver's license revoked for 30 days and $2.95 court costs.

Charged with other traffic violations were Theodore W. Blatner, 39, Hales Corners, illegal right turn, $13.95 forfeited and two points; Kenneth R. Petition Asks Post Office for North Side

Accessibility, Service Inadequate Group Says

A petition is being circulated requesting a full scale branch post office on the north side.

The petition, drawn up by the Northside Advancement association, does not specify a site for the building but says the present post office building is not adequate in service or accessibility.

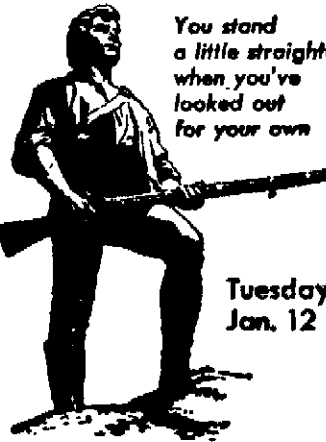

Postmaster Francis Sumnicht said the post office bureau of research and engineering has studied the situation in Appleton. Three plans have been suggested. One is the addition of a branch office as requested in the petition. The other would provide for expansion of the present building or construction of a new post office.

Full Services
Money for any change in the present setup could be appropriated by congress or allocated from federal post office department funds.

The petition requests a branch that would include all the services of the present post office. Sumnicht said mail would still be sorted at the main office so zoning would not be necessary.

Madison and LaCrosse currently have an annex system similar to the one proposed in the petition.

Wind-Whipped Flames Destroyed the barn on the Alvin Driessen farm, route 1, Kaukauna, in 25 minutes shortly after midnight this morning. Driessen lost 43 head of cattle in the blaze. The town of Vandenberg fire department battled the fire. Light from the photographers flash and the blaze reflected on moving snow particles when the picture was taken.

Fire Destroys Barn in Under Half Hour

$30,000 Loss in Driessen Blaze; 43 Cows Killed

Little Chute—Wind-whipped flames destroyed the barn on the Alvin Driessen farm, route 1, Kaukauna, in 25 minutes early this morning, causing the death of 43 cows and heifers. Driessen estimated the loss at $30,000.

An unidentified neighbor reported the barn in flames to the town of Vandenberg fire department shortly before midnight.

Cause of the fire has been tentatively laid to the wiring. There were 61 head of cattle in the barn. Some of the animals caught fire and were shot to death by Little Chute Asst. Police Chief Robert Nechodom as they dashed flaming from the barn. Driessen and firemen were able to save 18 head.

Driessen said a new tractor and spreader also were destroyed in the 36 by 80-foot barn.

High winds that fed the flames also helped firemen save other buildings and the farm house by blowing the blaze away from the structures.

The farm is north of Highway 41 on the Vandenberg road. The town of Vandenberg fire truck is housed in Little Chute.

and has fallen far behind the rate of gains for the Valley industrial complex. The 1958 corporation tax payments for Milwaukee county figured out to only $113.79 against the 1947-48-49 base period, which was substantially below that for the state as a whole.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor-breath." Unmistakable Conclusion

Fox Valley Holds Favorable Place in Regard to Tax Rates

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — To industrial and business executives in other localities who regard local personal and real property taxes as a significant factor in their operations, the Fox River valley region must appear increasingly attractive as a place to do business.

That is the unmistakable conclusion of a study of Wisconsin tax trends as shown in the successive statistical reports of the state department of taxation.

The Post-Crescent Madison news bureau over a period of several years has observed the apparently favorable position of the valley region with respect to Wisconsin average local property tax rates. This year it asked the department for elaboration, with results showing that:

Full Value

1. The valley counties in general have full value local tax rates on real and personal property substantially below those for the state as a whole, and far below some of the principal industrial sectors such as Milwaukee county.

2. The average of local taxation in that district is declining, in contrast to a tendency for a higher average in other districts and in the state as a whole.

3. Corporation income tax returns, shared with the local governments, are rising in the Fox Valley district at a proportionately higher rate than in the state as a whole and in the other industrial counties, suggesting that the favorable real and personal property tax position there is likely to continue and grow more pronounced in the future.

4. The valley counties have consistently maintained average full value tax rates below those of the state for a dozen years or more, suggesting that the favorable comparison is a permanent one upon which businessmen and others can plan positively.

Bright Position

The bright position of the valley is illustrated most clearly by the tax experience of Winnebago and Outagamie counties, and only less directly by Brown and Manitowoc counties.

Last year Winnebago county ranked lowest among industrial counties in the state, with an average full value rate of $17.71, against the state average of $24.16. Outagamie county had an average of $18.04 for second lowest position. Manitowoc had $18.67 for third, and Brown county $21.23 for seventh place.

Other counties shown unfavorably in such a comparison are Washington, Racine, and Rock. Only 15 counties out of the 71 in the state last year had an average tax rate lower than that for the state as a whole.

One illuminating comparison is between Winnebago county, the lowest, with Milwaukee county, the state's principal industrial location. Milwaukee county last year had an average full value local tax rate on real and personal property of $27.20, against Winnebago's $17.71.

Corporate Growth

The record shows, say the tax department analysts, that the rate of corporate growth and earnings in the Valley is greater than in the state as a whole, that the trend appears to be a stable and solid one, and that it will continue to put that region in an increasingly favorable position with regard to property tax liability.

State studies recently have shown that the property tax load of the state is relatively high, and that personal property taxes, especially, have become a factor to a significant degree in business location decisions.

The tax department comparisons for counties are general, moreover, and fail to show that within the specimen counties there are variations. In some of the taxing districts within the counties the local tax liability is even more favorable than in the counties as a whole, it was explained.

Measuring taxation burdens as a factor in industrial location, without regard to the other contributing factors, Milwaukee county shows up in an increasingly less favorable light.

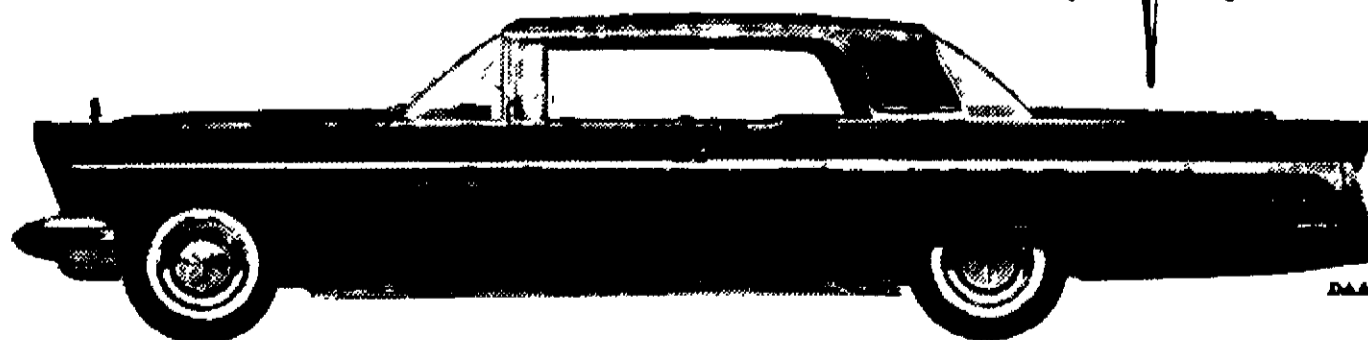

Milwaukee corporate tax productivity has not grown at the state rate, for example,

Closely Related

State and local finance are closely related, as a result of the sharing of state income taxes. A vital factor in measuring the stability of a local tax rate is the productivity of the local business in terms of state tax payments. The Valley section shines brightly in that comparison also.

Last year Outagamie county ranked second in the state — only behind Washington county — in the growth of corporation income tax payments over the period 1947-48-49, commonly used as a base for economic comparison purposes. Winnebago county

Dinah Shore May Quit Sunday Night Series

First Animated Situation Comedy Set for Regular Berth Next Fall on ABC-TV

BY JINGO

Rumors in Hollywood claim Dinah Shore will not renew her contract for another season of every-other Sunday night shows. Too much of a grind for the gal, they say. William Hanna and Joseph Barbera, producers of "Tom and Jerry" cartoons for 20 years, will make "The Flagstones," first half-hour situation comedy series to be produced in animation for television. It's due as a night time feature on ABC-TV next fall. Kate Smith returns to TV as star of a half-hour weekly musical variety series Jan. 25. Her show replaces "Masquerade Party." Her last series was in June, 1954.

"Overland Trail," the William Bendix TV series which reportedly would replace "Riverboat," is scheduled for presentation next fall, NBC-TV announced last week. Guest stars will appear weekly. Henry Slate, of the night club brother act, becomes a regular in the "Adventures in Paradise" series Monday, Feb. 8. He'll play a wheeler and dealer. He joins the cast on the heels of announcements that Ron Ely will become alternate week co-star and Linda Lawson and Anna May Wong will be continuing featured players.

Tremendous Christmas sales of classical music albums have insiders looking for a rebirth of music values on radio and TV. Good-bye rock'n'roll? Speaking of "Adventures in Paradise," Anna Kashfi, former wife of Marlon Brando, makes her TV acting debut in next Monday's segment. The late Wayne Morris also will be featured as a navigator. Ethel Merman, Benny Goodman, Beatrice Lillie and Ray

Bolger will appear together in the "Telephone Hour" show for Friday, Jan. 29. It's entitled "The Four of Us."

Sugar Ray Robinson's defense of his middleweight title against Paul Pender of Boston will be telecast Jan. 22 on the "Friday Night Fights" . . . Jimmy Demaret, top golf pro, will handle color commentary for the Bing Crosby Golf tourney telecast Sunday, Jan. 24, on ABC-TV.

Remember "The Grandmothers," Jack Benny's favorite musical combo? They've reorganized and are booked for Steve Allen's Jan. 25 show. Jane Froman Tuesday on "The Arthur Murray Party" danced for the first time since her plane crash injuries of 1942. She waltzed with James Starbuck, choreographer for the show.

Country Tune, Western Ditty Top Numbers

Fox Cities Takes To 'Running Bear,' Robbins' 'El Paso'

BY DICK DISC

Country and western music seems to be the starting trend for 1960 in the pop music field as two such tunes top the current hit list in the Fox Cities. No. 1 this week goes to Johnny Preston's "Running Bear." "El Paso," a western ditty, ranks second this week. It's sung by Marty Robbins.

There is only one new tune. It's Larry Hall's version of "Sandy."

In the rundown, top tune across the nation is "El Paso" and "Why" is in second place, according to the latest Billboard listing.

Fox Cities 10 Here's the local top 10: 1. "Running Bear" by Johnny Preston.

2. "El Paso" by Marty Robbins.
3. "Why" by Frankie Avalon.
4. "The Big Hurt" by Tom Fisher.
5. "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans" by Freddie Cannon.
6. "Heartaches by the Number" by Guy Mitchell.
7. "We Got Love" by Bobby Rydell.
8. "Sandy" by Larry Hall.
9. "Mack the Knife" by Bobby Darin.
10. "Living Doll" by Cliff Richards and the Drifters.

"Mack the Knife," last year's top tune seems to be on the way to an all-time record. It's been on the chart since last October, and though going down, still is strong in the top 10.

Albums in review:

From "Music Man" "And Then I Wrote the Music Man" with Meredith and Rini Willson is an album of songs from "The Music Man" based on the recently published book by Willson. The selections are well handled by the original author of the Broadway musical and his wife.

She does a superb job on "Till There Was You," which is sung with a good deal of grace and feeling. The album captures the spirit of the play and is well designed to "Music Man" lovers.

"C'mon Let's Dance" with

Freddie Martin and his orchestra. A danceable selection of medleys from popular shows, as well as standards. "South Pacific" is well represented as well as other selections from Cole Porter and Jerome Kern. Most of the music is fast paced and makes for good cheery listening.

How Small Wisconsin City Became World Famous for Annual Big Lie

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Burlington — This is the true story of a fabulous fib which has grown to become a thing of international attention: The Burlington Liars club.

On the heels of each New Year, a bland news story emanates from this small community. That story, an annual one, announces the champion liar of the year.

Because everybody everywhere is a lover of a patent prevarication, most editors give the story a position of prominence. As one consequence, Burlington, population about 5,000, has attained a position of prominence as a news center—once a year.

In addition to that one-shot bit of attention from the world, the Burlington Liars club has attracted almost 100,000 members from every state in the union and at least 53 foreign countries.

The club, now in its 31st year, has had but one president, Otis C. Hulett, a newspaperman, upon whose shoulders must rest the amiable beginning of the club which has become world famous.

Started in 1929

Back in 1929, Hulett with a friend, Mannel Hahn, grew tired of listening to the "whoppers" of a group of people who often met with a one-time police chief of Burlington, one Frank Beller.

Said Hulett: "They'd sit and tell about the wonders of the old days. Summers were always hotter, winters were always colder, snow was deeper, fishing was purely wonderful, and hunting consisted of poking a rifle out of a bedroom window and pulling the trigger."

Tiring of having to listen to these big stories, Hulett and Hahn sat down and concocted a humorous new story which identified those old-timers as members of "the Burlington Liars club" which, in fact, did not exist. The story said that the laurels as champion liar went to Beller, the police chief. The prize, said the story, was given to Beller for one tall fib: That he had never told a lie in his life.

AP Picks It Up

To all interests and purposes the story should have ended there along with the phoney club. But the Associated Press Bureau Chief, Paul Schumacher, was fooled by the story and sent it across the world. Then, for a year, the story died.

The next year, just at the New Year period, Schumacher telephoned the ebullient Hulett and asked who had won the contest for that year. Hulett obliged by inventing a fib on the spur of a moment, and this story, too, was sped across the world.

In 1931, the Burlington Liars club simply had to be made something more than just a fib itself. Hulett got word that a news reel crew was coming to film what was believed to be an annual event. Hulett and friends obliged them.

Mail Bag Grows

Thus it was that the Burlington Liars club was originated on the basis of a falsehood, but the fun was there. As the club grew, so did Hulett's mail bag. Hundreds of persons sent him notable lies and sought to become the championship liar. It was then that Hulett truly formed a club.

The Burlington Liars club was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the laws of Wisconsin. To this application, Theodore Dammann, the then secretary of the state wrote to Hulett and asked, "Is this one of your darn lies or do you really mean it?" Hulett meant it.

Hulett himself is a garrulous fellow, amiable, charming and a real spinner of tales. So talkative he is that the interviewer is hard put to keep him on a subject long enough to get salient facts.

People have urged him to make a big thing out of the club, but Hulett has always demurred.

"If I did that, I'd have to work at it — print magazines and have lots of correspondence. Besides, now I have a potful of fun. If I made it a big operation it would all be spoiled," he said.

"I'm just smart enough to know how dumb I am," he said.

Conducting the affairs of the famed liars club has proven to be no burden to the likeable Mr. Hulett. He conducts what minor operations are necessary from his den at home and, he says, "out of my vest pocket."

Members Not Sought

New members are not solicited. They simply send him a big lie and 10 cents to cover the cost of printing the membership card and postage.

Hulett does not think the average fellow is a very good liar. Most of the fibs to reach him through the there'd be enough wind for one. Even this wasn't enough to turn the single windmill until he removed some wire fencing which was "obstructing the wind."

A student of the lie innocuous, Hulett has some favorites remembered from other years.

The 1938 champion won his "diamond studded award" with this: "My wife is so lazy that she feeds the chickens popcorn so that when she fries the eggs they turn over by themselves."

A North Dakota man won a handily in 1950 by telling about a cold day.

"The ground was frozen so hard that when we tried to bury a fellow who died that winter, we had to stand him on his head under a pile driver and we had to drive on him seven days and seven nights to get him down far enough for a decent burial."

Delaware Winner

A Delaware man won a championship by telling about the mosquitoes of that year. "They were so big," he wrote, "that we shot them. Then, after the buzzards cleaned them out, we used them for gliders."

Another champion was born when he wrote about a cold night when the temperature dropped swiftly. "The mercury fell so fast," said he, "that it pinned a rat to the floor."

One big lie which comes often to the Hulett desk is the one about the mosquitoes which infested a certain army camp. The soldiers woke up when the mosquitoes were turning over their dog tags to see what blood type they were.

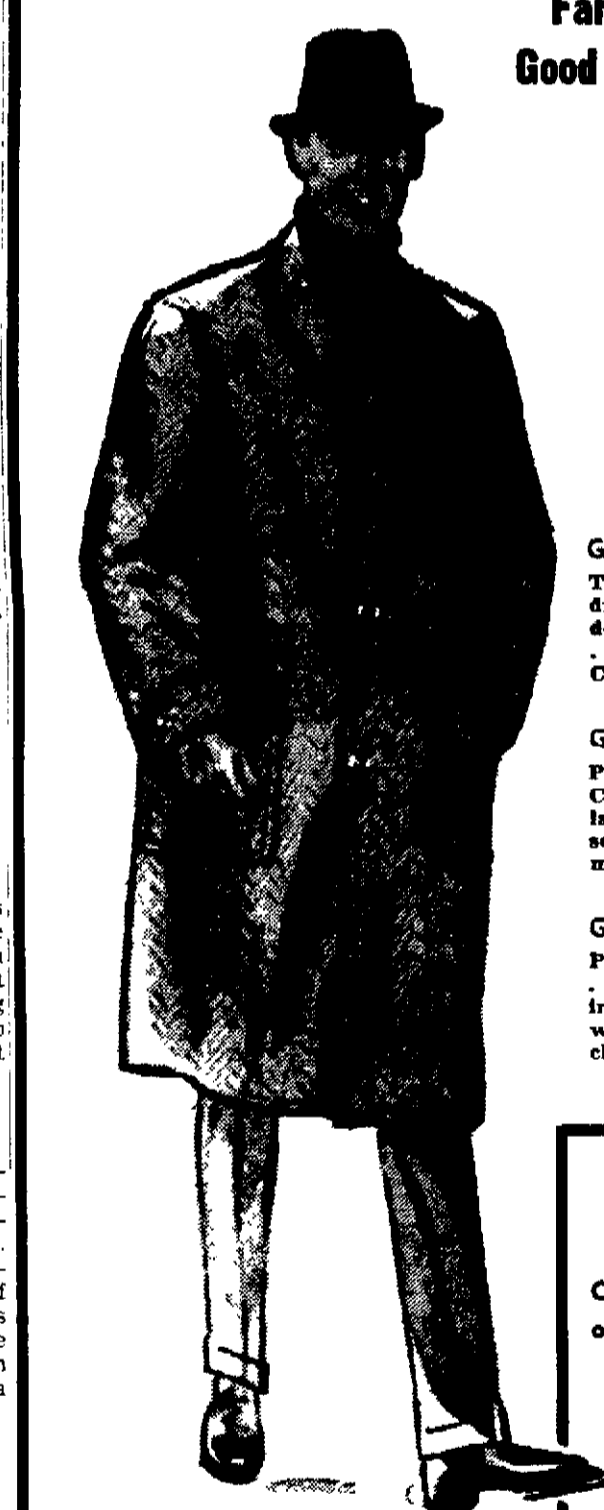

mails are re-bashed versions of older ones.

"You begin to tell me a lie and I'll lay you odds that I can finish for you," he said.

Every year, Hulett says, he picks 50 of 75 of what he calls "honest" lies and brings them to a committee of local merchants. That committee, working with Hulett, makes the final selection of the champion liar.

Texas's Tall Tale

Winner of 1959's contest was, appropriately, a Texan who claimed there was so little wind near Wichita Falls last year that he had to take down two of the three windmills on his ranch so that

Oconto to be Reassessed by State Officer

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The state will supervise the real and personal property tax assessment in the town of Oconto, Oconto county, and three other Wisconsin towns next spring, the state department of taxation has announced. Harry Harder, tax commissioner, said petitions for local reassessment were received from residents of the Oconto county town and others in the town of Bass Lake, Rusk county, Anson, Chippewa county, and Kildare, Juneau county. He said supervisors would be appointed to take charge of the assessments in the four districts next May 1. The local assessor will accompany the special assessor on his rounds, but the assessment will be made by the special officer in the name of the state.

Resort Fashions Bright as Sunshine

Each winter when the holidays are over and temperatures drop to zero, many lucky people follow the sun to fabulous southern playgrounds. Resort clothes for the 1960 season are as bright and colorful as the Florida coast or Arizona deserts themselves and play an important role in every successful, sun-filled holiday.

There are printed silks for day or evening wear—imaginative cotton prints and stripes cleverly coordinated with plain fabrics—miracle blends to withstand travel and active sports—and chic ensembles wonderful for resorts and equally at home in town after vacations.

New ankle-length skirts cover matching playsuits or swimsuits and are smart costumes for informal resort evenings. Swimsuits will be making news with a sculptured, feminine look classically draped or moulded in soft jersey, nylon or cotton.

The other swimsuits style—stark simplicity—is expertly done in vibrant colors and feather-weight, swim-proof fabrics. Two-piece suits are sure to be seen at southern resorts and will set the trend for summer in the north.

Bikinis are still in question and one manufacturer has decided to let the wearer decide just how uncovered or covered she wants to appear by providing buttons and convertible tabs at the side of the suit. Boy shorts, pleated and brief, flared skirts and slim-fitting sheaths will also star in resort collections.

Ingenuity and diversity summarize dresses and play-clothes in winter sun fashions. Luxury fabrics and detailed work done in elegant laces and embroideries embellish classic sheaths and shirtwaists and fabrics are bright, fresh and different.

Woven designs of butterflies, parrots, flamingoes and abstract motifs seem to go hand in hand with outdoor living and traveling in the sun and will certainly set a new style for summer fashion. Necklines fall in relation to the hour for which the dress was designed and cocktail costumes feature low, rounded necklines and some V necks.

Reversible coordinates in sportswear will be popular and practical resort ensembles combining striking solid colors with pretty prints.

Perfect for Town, travel or hotel dining is this blazer stripe coat accessorizing a bathrobe-tie sheath. A perky straw hat accessorizes the costume made of a light, wrinkle-resistant blend of silk and cotton.

East is used in this lustre cotton swimsuit by a Miami designer. The white suit has a pussy willow print of tan and pale pink and the full, matching jacket is set off by an oversize collar. Coconut palms are a familiar sight to sunbathers at famed Biscayne bay.

Designed for Pool-Side or beach lounging are these patio pants of abstract patterned cotton. The long-sleeved silk shirt features a dramatic plunge neckline and matches the cummerbund sash which circles the waistline. Inspiration from France and the Far

These Draped and Pleated swimsuits from a California designer are sure to score hits at southern beaches this winter and will set a style trend for northern beauties this summer. Grecian inspired, the suits are made of permanently pleated synthetics and are available in white, green, lemon, light blue, black and white.

A Delightfully Feminine dress of a new batiste cotton, this design will captivate audiences from daytime through cocktails and dinner. The swirling skirt has unpressed pleats and the long, French cuffs are secured by flower cuff links. The tucked bodice is set off by a flattering, scoop neckline.

White Cotton Sharkskin combines with a woven domino fabric to making striking resort ensembles. The side-buttoned sleeveless tunic is the new knuckle-length and is worn over slim Capri pants. A handkerchief point bodice bares just a bit of midriff above a graceful, ankle-length skirt of the same domino print.

King's Daughters Service Circle Announces Year's Committees

Committees for the coming year were announced by Mrs. Francis Jenkins, president of the Service circle of the King's Daughters, at a meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. William Plank, 231 W. Prospect avenue. Co-hostesses were Mrs. George Theiss and Robert Rechner.

Miss Helen McGrath will be chairman of the spring rummage sale, assisted by Mrs. James McKenny, O. G. Koller, Martin Eich, Howard Crabb and Miss Mary Kenny, who will be assisted by Mrs. Langlois, Kramlich and Bloomer.

Representing the Service circle on the King's Daughters council will be Mrs. Eich, Bohl, Van Susteren and Jenkins. Alternates are Miss McGrath and Mrs. William Hegner.

At Monday's meeting Mrs. Albrecht and Bloomer reported on two parties held in November and December for the teen-age group of the special education classes and Mrs. Theiss reported on the fall rummage sale. Proceeds were sent to Warm Springs, Ga., to aid an Appleton polio patient.

Nine-Year-Old Keeps Dairy in Business Altering Milk Cards

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The people next door have a 9-year-old who is a little mischievous. He's been changing our milk card for the last two weeks. This morning I the housekeeper telling me to was left five quarts of milk, three pounds of butter, four dozen eggs and two cartons of yogurt (which no one will touch).

He's a sweet little fellow but full of the dicks. We are certain he's the guilty one but don't want to accuse him without proof. My husband says we must catch him in the act or we can do nothing. What is your advice?—Overstocked

Dear Overstocked: Until you seize the culprit red-handed, ask the milkman to ignore the card and work out with him a secret hiding place for the official order.

DEAR ANN: You are going to decide this. My husband has agreed. My mother never gave me a second look when I was a child. She left me with a housekeeper while she went to work to buy wall-to-wall carpeting, a grand piano and like it.

They sit in the living room and turn the TV on to what they want to watch and then we get the fish eye because they think we are hanging around policing them. The boy bums cigarettes off me and to tell you the truth I can't stand the kid. He quit school last year and I think he's trying to get Nellie to do the same thing. What can we do?—The Folks

Dear Folks: You wouldn't let your automobile run out of control, would you? Well, isn't your daughter just as valuable?

Tell her, don't ask her. Kids need controls and limits set for them. Put the shoe on the other foot, then put the foot down now.

Confidential to the hundreds of women who wrote to tell me I'm off my trolley: I repeat: There is no such thing as love at first sight. You gals who were knocked off your pins at first meeting and are now living happily ever after, please note. It wasn't love that you experienced on the initial glimpse. It was a chemical reaction. The guy just happened to turn out to be as wonderful as you thought the first time you set eyes on him. (This isn't love but hooray for whatever it is.)

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Child's Stomach Ache May Mean Appendicitis

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.

Whenever a child complains of a stomach ache, one of the first things a mother thinks of is possible appendicitis. And although it will probably turn out the ache is caused by something else, the mother is correct in being concerned about the appendix until she is sure.

For a part of the body that has no known useful function, the appendix can cause a great deal of pain and trouble. The appendix is a little pouch that grows in the large intestine. Most people go through life without appendicitis. When it does cause trouble, it is because germs get lodged in the appendix and begin to form pus—much like the early formation of a boil.

Runs in Families
It is generally believed that when the opening from the intestine to the appendix is small and tight there is more likelihood that trouble may develop. When the opening is wide, material from the intestine flows in and out freely. When it is tight a germ that gets in cannot get out easily and the germs multiply causing swelling, pain and trouble.

Tendency to have trouble with the appendix seems to

Treatment for Blackheads

Because of blackheads, some skins seem lost to beauty. But they are not; where there's a will, there's a way to be rid of blackheads.

The big secret of dislodgment is suds, and more suds.

1. Several times daily, bathe the face with a deep-pore cleanser. Then wash with soap and water, using a complexion brush in a rotary motion.

2. Once weekly, steam a well-cleansed face over hot water. This will loosen some blackheads and they will wash away.

3. To remove stubborn blackheads, pressure is required. But never attempt the removal of more than two at a time, and never bring the fingernails into play. Always "operate" after the weekly steaming, and always cover the forefingers with sterile gauze. Then gently press out the offending matter. Finish by applying antiseptic to the treated spots.

Given effort and time, the program returns the skin to beauty's fold. 'Tis for sure! (Copyright 1960)

Theodore Rehl Will Give Faculty Recital

Theodore Rehl, pianist, will present the third faculty recital of the current season at 8:15 p. m. Sunday in Harper hall.

An assistant professor of piano at the Lawrence conservatory, Rehl received both his bachelor and master of music degrees from Oberlin college. He has studied with Leonard Shure and Beveridge Webster. He spent the past summer at the University of Southern California working on his doctor of musical arts degree.

A finalist in the National Federation of Music club's Young Artist competition, in 1953, Rehl then became a soloist with the Little Orchestra society of New York city. He did accompanying and solo work on a tour sponsored by the University of Minnesota as well as with groups in Ohio, New York, and Maryland. In the past year he and his wife, Fran, a cellist, have appeared in several programs in the Fox Cities area.

Before coming to Lawrence, he held positions as a teaching fellow and private piano teacher at Oberlin college.

Besides his solo recital, Rehl is scheduled to appear with pianist Clyde Duncan, also of the conservatory faculty, in Harper hall on March 13.

The recital is open to the public.

Cabinets Star in Spring Previews

Stand-out cabinets for spring tower above the heads of six-footers, or they lie low as they glide along rangy walls. And in the preview Home Furnishings Markets now going full blast in Chicago and Grand Rapids where experts choose for the stores, almost every other height and length of cabinet is seen, to add up to variety of dimensions unheard of only a few years ago.

Tall cabinets particularly have such a special talent — they do so much to style a room while they provide greatly prized extra space for storage. The cabinets sketched also bring new style to mahogany, with Jack Cartwright's fresh viewpoint on design and a beautiful shade of mellow light brown that's a wonderful new color for this favorite cabinet wood. With tables and chairs, the cabinets won't top honors in the dining room category of the Mahogany Awards Competition, which permits each piece of the grouping to wear a proud official winner label when the furniture arrives soon in the stores.

Mrs. H. A. G. "I plan to buy new draperies for my living room and would like to know what length is better for its 13' x 15' size. I measured from the window tops to the floor and find that 90-inch draperies would be too long, and 63-inch would hang four inches below the window trim. Also, would yellow curtains add too much yellow to a kitchen that has yellow background wallpaper, yellow counter tops and linoleum in a spatter design that has a lot of beige in it?"

Ready-made draperies in either length will need shortening — the 63-inch length should lose the four inches below the window trim or be cut to stop at the sills. Floor length draperies are usually preferable, especially if the drapery fabric is somewhat heavy. Since you question yellow for the kitchen curtains, perhaps the room shouldn't have more of this color, although kitchen color schemes usually should use one key color widely. The right decision should also consider the cabinet color and other details you do not describe.

Mrs. R. C. "My living room walls are aqua and I have a deep purple sofa and a large aqua chaise lounge. Accessories are white. The effect is cool and neat looking, but I'd like a suggestion for another color to break this coolness." Fuchsia shades would warm and enliven the room. You might eliminate some of the white or trade several white items for others in fuchsia.

Jerry Kain Named Head Of Fraternity

Jerry Kain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Kain, 324 E. Maple street, was elected president of Sigma chapter of Delta Kappa fraternity at Stout State college, Menomonie, where he is a junior. He and his wife have returned to Menomonie after spending the holidays with his parents.

Other Delta Kappa members from the Fox Cities are Peter Fulcer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Fulcer, 104 W. First street, Kimberly; Roger Kane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kane, 114 W. Wilson avenue; and Vern Verkullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Verkullen, 313 W. Commercial street.

Spring Nuptials Planned by Karen Maahs

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Maahs, route 1, Wittenberg, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen, to Terry Dobbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dobbe, route 1, Wittenberg.

Both young people are graduates of Wittenberg High school. Miss Maahs is employed at the Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton. A spring wedding is being planned.

Roofing Nails Force Closing of Highway

Waco, Texas — A keg of roofing nails bounced off a truck onto Highway 6 just south of this central Texas city today and angry motorists soon started fixing flat tires.

Nails littered both sides of the road for more than 100 yards. Within minutes at least seven cars halted in the pelting rain with one to four flat tires.

State police closed the road until the nails were swept up. The errant trucker hasn't been found.

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah — Unbeaten Kimberly plays at winless New London Friday night as the Mid-Eastern basketball squads resume their conference schedules after a 3-week layoff.

Other Friday night pairings are: Menasha at Shawano, Kaukauna at Clintonville and Two Rivers at Neenah.

As the teams swing back into action, Kimberly is in first place as per pre-season forecasts but there are some surprises the rest of the way — the most salient, Menasha and Shawano holding down first-division berths and Neenah and Two Rivers in the lower division.

Papermakers Roll

Kimberly showed that the layoff didn't do its shooting eye any harm when it rolled up 80-plus totals against Oshkosh and Little Chute St. John Saturday and Monday. It will be strongly favored to retain its perfect league mark. New London's Bulldogs, Saturday night, came up with their best punch in several seasons in scoring 75 points while losing to Waupaca.

The Menasha-Shawano fray is the only one which matches first-division occupants against each other. The Jays were beaten by Kimberly and Shawano by Two Rivers for the only blots on their records. The Indians, the conference's top scoring unit, have hit 80 or more points in their last three starts. Menasha has the conference's top-ranking scorer in junior Dave Ristau.

Neenah vs. Two Rivers — Two Rivers and Neenah attempt to improve their records at each other's expense. The losers will fall deeper into the second division.

Neenah came up with a tremendous effort last Saturday night, coining the last 13 points of the game to upset Appleton. Two Rivers, short on height, hasn't been scoring up to its potential and has

Warriors Play St. Norbert Quint Tonight

Milwaukee — Marquette will try to run its arena winning streak to 22 tonight when it meets St. Norbert college in a basketball game.

The Green Knights have a record of 3-4 while Marquette has a 7-3 mark for the season.

Although the Warriors are favored, Coach Ed Hickey has warned his players against a letdown such as the one of 1958 when St. Norbert upset Marquette, 49-47. Marquette won last year, 82-74.

Defends 2 Contracts

AFL's Joe Foss Says He'll Take Woes to Congressional Committee

Dallas, Texas — Comment of his football circuit of choice for Minneapolis-St. Paul "so confused the situation that AFL interests were unable to get any sort of written agreement for use of the stadium there."

Foss appeared certain that he was correct in his statement on the validity of Cannon and Robinson's contracts. He told Dallas newsmen both players signed their AFL contracts after the Sugar bowl game in New Orleans while standing under the south goal posts.

"Any earlier signing," he said, "would have jeopardized their collegiate eligibility to play in the Sugar bowl game, and would have violated all NCAA rules, as well as rules of both professional football leagues, and in addition would be contrary to the spirit of amateur athletics."

Refused to Talk — Foss said the National Football league repeatedly had refused to even talk about a franchise in Minneapolis-St. Paul until the AFL announced hero in World War II and it was going in there. Then, twice governor of South Dakota pointed to the abandoned promises of a franchise in Minneapolis-St. Paul as the result of "harassment" he believes violates anti-trust laws.

He said he thought the Senate's Anti-monopoly committee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) should know of the stumbling blocks encountered by the AFL. "Before too many days pass," he said, "I'm going to Washington to visit members of that committee."

Foss called prior and valid contracts the Houston Oilers signed with All-America Billy Cannon and the Dallas Texans signed with Johnny Robinson. "They're my friends," he added.

Completed their college eligibility, and I must conclude that these contracts are both prior and valid."

The former Marine Corps hero in World War II and it was going in there. Then, twice governor of South Dakota pointed to the abandoned promises of a franchise in Minneapolis-St. Paul as the result of "harassment" he believes violates anti-trust laws.

All 10 Players are in View in this overhead shot of Lawrence Stevens Point basketball action here Tuesday night. The Vikes' Jim Schulze (20) is shooting, with Bill Kuse (20) on defense. Other Lawrence players are Jim Jordan (34), Jim Rasmussen (32) Joe Lamers (40) and "Chuck" Knocke (10). Other Pointers are Henry Sampson (30), Sam Antcliffe (42), Tom Gurtler (44) and Gary Herold (12). Stevens Point won, 66-59.

NOTES and NOTIONS

Sports may well soar to new interest and achievement heights in the '60s, but before we break any more ice in the new decade, let's take a moment to review some of the biggest changes wrought by the fabulous fifties. Baseball's big stories were the breakdown of long-guarded geographical barriers by the majors and a drastic shrinkage of the minor league domain. The Braves' move from Boston to Milwaukee—regarded by many as quite a gamble—started it all. Wisconsin took to major league ball like India's populace took to Eisenhower. Four other clubs soon looked for greener pastures and found them. Further expansion and franchise shifts are inevitable in the sixties. Only time will tell whether this growth will be in the form of expansion of the existing leagues or in the formation of a new league. As the decade opens, the Continental is only a "paper" league and its chances of getting off the drawing boards onto playing fields in the next two years are something less than 50-50.

The Fox Cities personally experienced the ever-changing fortunes of the minor leagues. The once-booming Wisconsin State league (class D), of which Appleton was a member, fell victim to the coming of the Braves and television and to the changing of leisure-time habits in '53. It was one of 38 leagues that disappeared from the 1949 total of 59. Five years later, the Appleton club was reorganized into the Fox Cities club and took another crack at Organized Baseball—this time on a higher (Class B) level. Though the destiny of the Foxes, the 3-1 league and minor league baseball is somewhat uncertain at the turn of the decade, 1959 bowed out on a number of encouraging notes. For the first time in 10 years, no minor league went out of business; the 3-1 league complement was unchanged for the first time in several years; and the Foxes changed their affiliation to Baltimore, noted for a more vigorous farm system than Washington's.

With no dollar-draining talent war (except for brief skirmishes with the Canadian league) to hinder it, the National Football league made tremendous strides in the '50s. Pro football attendance was stimulated by colorful play, close competition and a sharp increase in television which introduced millions more to the game. The NFL's draft system, decried by some as a restraint on individual players' freedom of choice, must be credited with an assist in helping keep competition on a balanced, crowd-pleasing plane. The recent Colt-Giant title game typified the hold on the popular imagination pro football now has. Reports had it that Colt-Giant excitement in big, blasé New York surpassed normal baseball World Series interest. As in the case of baseball, the big question is whether the inevitable growth will come in the form of additional teams for the NFL or in a new league (the AFL). The race is already under way.

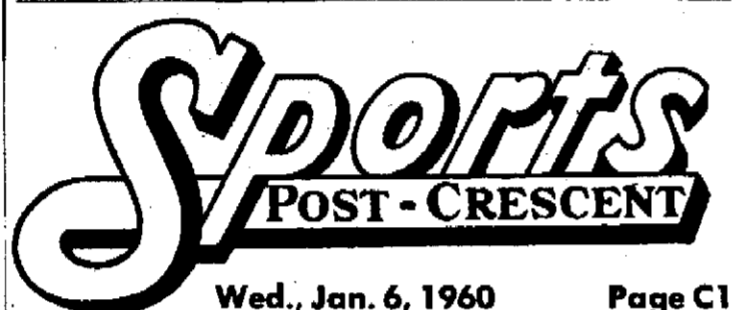

While the prestige of most professional athletics grew during the '50s, that of boxing plunged downward to the lowest level since the days when the sport itself was illegal. This despite the performances of such skilled and colorful athlete individuals as Rocky Marciano, "Sugar" Ray Robinson, Archie Moore and Ingemar Johansson. To survive as a reputable endeavor in the 60s, boxing must find a way to free itself of the unsavory manipulators whose influence has produced one mess after another.

In the 1950s, more persons than ever deserted the ranks of spectators to become participants. Such activities as golfing, bowling, hunting, fishing and boating reached all-time popularity peaks. And, with possibly still more leisure hours in the offing in the 60s, it's a fair guess that these and other individual-type pursuits will continue to grow.

New Jersey Fieldhouse Named for Lombardi
Liberia, N. J. — Vincent T. Lombardi, the Green Bay Packers professional football team coach, has a new fieldhouse named after him. Expect Disciplining of One or More Schools

13 Institutions Under Investigation by NCAA; Coaches Favor Free Substitution

BY JIM KENSIL
New York — The nation's college football coaches, required to both play and recruit the rules, were looking ahead: To later today, when the powerful policy-making council of the National Collegiate Athletic association was expected to discipline one or more schools who have broken the rules of the NCAA code.

Top Secret — To next week, when fellow coaches who comprise the NCAA football rules committee, meet in Miami Beach, to consider the American Football Coaches association's recommendation for a return to unlimited substitution.

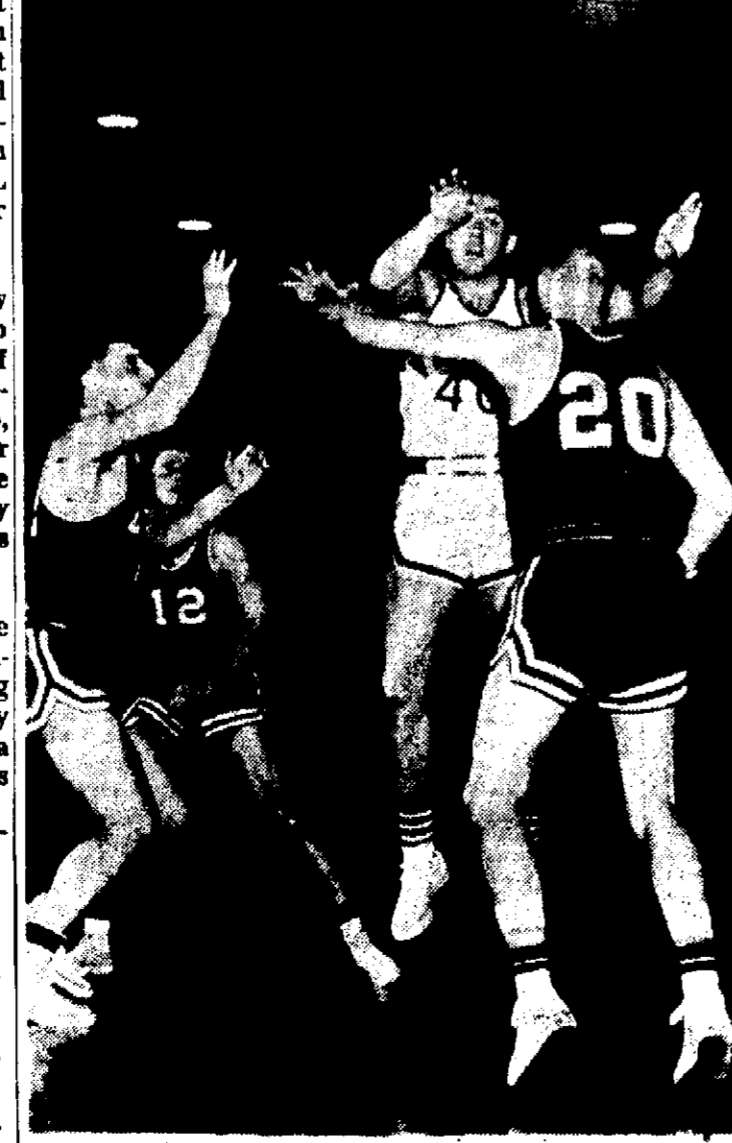

There were 13 member schools under investigation by the committee on infractions as the fifty-fourth annual NCAA convention opened today with round table discussions.

How many of the investigations will result in action by the council was top secret. The NCAA never discloses identity of the schools, unless they are found guilty.

The number currently on probation was reduced to nine Tuesday when Memphis State completed a 2-year probationary period, and the NCAA council, satisfied that the institution is living up to the athletic code, restored it to full eligibility.

Montana State college appealed for a revision of a 2-year probationary term in Pro Hockey.

Kaukauna Belts East, Registers 7th Cage Victory in 8 Starts

Ghosts Sink 23 of 31 From Foul Line
In Posting 59-36, Non-League Win

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Kaukauna — Hot shooting at the free throw line led the Kaukauna Ghosts to a 59-36 non-conference basketball victory over Green Bay East here Tuesday night.

The Ghosts bagged 23 of 31 charity attempts in recording their seventh victory in eight games.

Both teams showed that a lot of rust had accumulated over the holidays, especially in the first period. East had trouble getting started and never did score more than four baskets in any one quarter.

Kaukauna moved to a 7-4 lead, but after that point the action slowed down and it wasn't until late in the quarter when East pumped in two quick buckets to take an 8-7 lead. LeRoy Weyenberg put Kaukauna ahead with a jump, but Bill Freimuth hit one from the side to give the Red Devils a 10-9 advantage as the quarter ended.

The Ghosts took command by scoring 18 points in the second frame while East got only eight. The losers failed to get a point until a full five minutes had elapsed. After Gene Kelly hit a hook for East, the visitors added two other baskets and a pair of free throws before the stanza ended.

Increase Lead — Kaukauna increased its lead with 16 points in the third quarter. Weyenberg and Bill Borchardt each connected for six of the Ghosts' markers.

Weyenberg was high for both teams in the tilt with 19 points on six field goals and seven of nine free throws. The Ghosts left little doubt to the outcome by rolling away with 16 points in the last quarter while East managed only six.

With a 46-34 lead, Kaukauna started to move and recorded 13 straight points to hike the lead to 59-34. This time East went 5 minutes, 43 seconds without getting a point.

Bad passes, traveling calls and fouls slowed the action. Borchardt was runnerup in scoring for Kaukauna with 14 points while Jim Steger had 11. For East, Kelly was the top point man with 12.

Lions Sign Rabb, ND's Bob Scholtz

Detroit — The Detroit Lions, seeking to bolster a porous line and pep up their passing attack, today announced the signing of two top draft choices—quarterback Warren Rabb of Louisiana State and center Bob Scholtz of Notre Dame.

Rote said that's what he told Frank Leahy Tuesday night after the general manager of the Los Angeles Chargers called him on the telephone.

The Chargers apparently made a bid when Rote showed up here to talk turkey with Lew Hayman of the Toronto Argos. The former Rice star severed his connections with the Lions when they refused him a no-release clause which would guarantee him $18,000 salary for the season.

Rote, 31, played out his option with Detroit and now is considered a free agent. Before joining Detroit he played for the Green Bay Packers.

Swedes Tilt At La Crosse Is Cancelled

La Crosse — (AP) — The La Crosse Kiwanis club has cancelled the basketball game scheduled for Monday between La Crosse State college and the Swedish National team which was to tour the United States. The club was sponsoring the game.

Russ Aldrich, Kiwanis special events chairman, said "we have cancelled the game on information that the Swedes will go as far west as Chicago and then go into Canada."

3 Games Scheduled

Originally, the Swedish team was to have played three games in Wisconsin, meeting Superior, Eau Claire and La Crosse state college squads.

On the day of the Swedish team's arrival in this country, the Amateur Athletic union announced it would not sanction the U. S. tour on grounds that a professional promoter had aided in granting dates. Superior immediately cancelled its game with the Swedes, but La Crosse and Eau Claire kept the dates open pending a check with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. The NAIA attitude toward the tour has not been announced.

Gharrity and Hughbanks 1-2 In UW Scoring

Madison — (AP) — A pair of sophomores, Marty Gharrity of Shawano and Tom Hughbanks of Green Bay, are the scoring leaders of the Wisconsin basketball team.

Gharrity has a 14.7 average on 162 points in 11 games while Hughbanks has 131 points in the same number of games for an average of 11.9.

Other high scorers for the Badgers are Fred Clow with 11.2 points per game; Bob Barneson, 9.7 and Jack Ullwelling, 7.7. All have played in the first 11 games.

'Marty' Martin Named Athletic Director at Air Force Academy

New York — (AP) — When the next football season rolls around a West Point graduate will be the athletic director of the Air Force academy. And the new appointee, Col. Maurice "Marty" Martin, thinks the Falcons will beat the Army.

Martin, a member of the '43 class at West Point, was named Tuesday night to succeed Col. George Smiler at the Air Force school.

"Martin here for the NCAA convention, said "I just love to play Army and Navy and I think we'll beat them both."

President Victor Morabito of the 49ers says San Francisco will not nominate Leahy because of his position with the club, but added, "if his name is put forth, we would feel flattered and would support him vociferously."

When Bell died Oct. 11, the league appointed his assistant, Austin Gunsel, as acting commissioner.

Nothing Formal

Asked if anyone had formally sounded him out on whether he would be interested in the job Bell held at $40,000 per year, Leahy answered, "nothing formal. There have been one or two inquiries whether I would be interested and I was complimented that I'd even be considered."

Leahy is one of several possibilities for the NFL job in addition to Gunsel. Others include Edwin Anderson, president of the Detroit Lions; Don Kellelt, general manager of the Baltimore Colts; Earl Blaik, former Army coach; Paul Schissler, Los Angeles Times special events director who annually heads promotion of the pro-bowl game; and Paul Brown, coach and general manager of the Cleveland Browns.

Paul Amen Quits As Wake Forest Football Coach

Winston-Salem, N. C. — (AP) — Billy Hildebrand is expected to be elevated to the head football coaching position at Wake Forest college Friday.

Paul Amen submitted his resignation as head coach in a surprise move announced Tuesday.

The 35-year-old Hildebrand, who captained the 1945 Mississippi State team, was Amen's top assistant and handled the line coaching.

Amen says he has accepted a position in the personnel department of one of the South's largest banks.

Amen, 43, notified college officials of his intentions Monday.

Heat Exhaustion Recognized As New Football Danger

New York — (AP) — Football in 1959 resulted in death to 29 players, the largest total since 1947, and four came from heat exhaustion — a danger never previously recognized.

These figures were revealed today in the annual report prepared by Dr. Floyd Eastwood of Los Angeles City college and presented to the American Football Coaches association and the NCAA football rules committee.

Lighter Practice

As a result, the AFCA committee on injuries and fatalities strongly recommended lighter practice whenever the temperature exceeds 80-85.

Since the survey was begun in 1931, there has been only one previous death due to heat exhaustion. During the past season, one college player, Charles Lohr of the University of Maryland, and three high school players died of heat strokes after practicing in very hot weather.

These four deaths were among 11 attributed indirectly to football. There were 18 resulting directly from football injuries, most of them to the head and neck.

Of the direct injuries, seven were incurred in high school football, six in sandlot games, two in semi-pro football and three in college football.

Redl, 26 - year - old refugee from Hungary who now lives in Passaic, N.J., is a substitute on the card for fourth-ranking Rudell Stutch of Louisville. The Illinois Athletic commission refused to approve Stutch Monday because he has a cataract.

Hubbard, 23, has 18 victories, including 14 by knockouts. He has fought two draws.

Redl, who came to this country eight years ago, has scored 18 knockouts in 26 victories.

Logan Says He, Schoendienst To Have Great Seasons in '60

Milwaukee — (AP) — Johnny Logan, the veteran shortstop of the Milwaukee Braves believes he and "Red" Schoendienst will be ready for great seasons when the 1960 baseball year rolls around.

Schoendienst, who was out most of the 1959 season with tuberculosis, should be "our anchor man" at second base this year, Logan said Tuesday.

"Maybe he won't be ready to start the season," Logan said, "but he'll be able to play important stretches for us. There's a lot of baseball left in the old redhead. I say he's going to be a real clutch player for us."

"But second base isn't our big problem at all. Some of the other guys on the club have to pick up. I think a fellow like Wes Covington holds a pretty big key for us. I'm looking for Wes to bounce back and have a real good year."

Replies to Racial Charges

Texas' Royal Says Syracuse Gridders Rode Latin American

Austin, Tex. — (AP) — A Negro York team could be quartered with the rest of the squad.

2. Rene Ramirez, a Texas player of Latin American descent, was the target of racial barbs from Syracuse players.

"I can't for the life of me see what they're talking about," Royal said Tuesday when asked about charges that Texas players hurled racial insults at Syracuse Negroes in the Cotton bowl last Friday.

Turns Over Quarters

In an interview, the Texas coach outlined two reasons he thinks Syracuse is out of line in raising the race issue:

1. Texas turned its Dallas hotel quarters over to Syracuse so Negroes on the New York team could be quartered with the rest of the squad.

2. Rene Ramirez, a Texas player of Latin American descent, was the target of racial barbs from Syracuse players.

"I guess you could say that, all right," Ramirez said when asked about Royal's statement. He declined to elaborate.

Royal said Ramirez told him Monday "he had some pretty uncomplimentary things said to him during the game."

Asked about Syracuse claims that Texas "engaged in unfair tactics," Royal said, "I don't know what they had in mind. I've seen movies of the game and of course I was at the game and I don't see that either team was dirty."

On the play that threatened to touch off a full-scale brawl between Texas and Syracuse late in the first half, gaged in unfair tactics, three penalties on one play."

'Still' Helps Spoil Pollard's Coaching Debut

Scores 52 Points Against Lakers; Celtics Lose Again

BY MURRAY ROSE

New York — There's no stopping Wilt Chamberlain. The 7-foot, 1-inch Philadelphia rookie gets better with every game in the National Basketball association.

Wilt popped in 52 points against the Minneapolis Lakers in leading his team to a 126-111 victory at Madison Square garden Tuesday night. He dunked 20 field goals.

Most of his shots were made while surrounded by two or three Lakers. "The Still" made them from outside and from the sides.

Deflects 10 Shots
The 250-pound giant also grabbed 20 rebounds, deflected 10 Laker shots, and was a general nuisance around the boards to the Lakers in the doubleheader.

The 52 total was his second high in the NBA. He hit for 55 against Cincinnati.

"He's just fantastic," remarked Joe Lapchick, coach of St. John and former pilot of the New York Knickerbockers. "He has such wonderful coordination for such a big fellow and does everything well."

Philadelphia's triumph spoiled Jim Pollard's coaching debut with the Lakers. In the second game, playing Coach Carl Braun sparked his New York Knicks to a 121-110 triumph over the Detroit Pistons.

In the only other game of the night, the Syracuse Nationals came from behind to whip the slipping, crippled Boston Celtics, 145-73, in overtime at Providence, R.I. It was the fourth loss in five games for Boston's Eastern division leaders. Despite that slump the Celtics still are 5 1/2 games in front of Philadelphia.

NCAA Probes 13 Schools

Oct. 27, 1959, but the NCAA council turned down the appeal. It was based on new evidence and a claim of procedural error.

Other schools currently on probation are Mississippi, Gustavus Adolphus, Wyoming, Seattle North Carolina State, Auburn, Southern California and Arizona State university.

The football coaches, conducting their thirty-seventh annual meeting, will hear a report today from Lou Little, former Columbia coach and chairman of the AFCA football rules committee, in which it is recommended to the NCAA rules committee that free and unlimited substitution be permitted for the first time since 1952, the last of 2-platoon seasons.

Rule Changes
The college coaches also backed the present point-after-touchdown option and the wider distance between goal posts. Both resulted from controversial rule changes in recent years.

The chances of the NCAA committee adopting the free substitution rule do not appear to be good. Of the eight coaches or former coaches on the committee, four are known to be opponents of free substitution. They are Dave Nelson of Delaware, "Bud" Wilkins of Oklahoma, Jess Neely of Rice and John Roring of Denver.

Other voting members are Norm Daniels of Wesleyan, Frank Howard of Clemson, Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin and Leo Harris of Oregon. Gen. Bob Neyland of Tennessee, committee chairman, votes only in case of ties. He is a member of the old guard who believes a football player should be complete, offensively and defensively.

The NCAA rules committee is under no obligation to follow the recommendation of the AFCA committee.

IMPROVE YOUR GAME

BOWLING Speed Tip

Like to increase the speed of your ball? These may help: Hold the ball higher in your starting position to help give you a longer pendulum swing. Or, use more push-away when you begin. Push it farther out if you've been negligent in that phase.

the invaders' 1-2-2 zone defense.

Jordan, just about the shortest starting forecourt, proved a board cleaner de luxe. Besides snagging 21 rebounds (16 in the second half), the springy, 6-2 hustler scored 15 points—nine of them in 11 tries from the free throw stripe.

Tom Gurtler, a 6-5 center, was runnerup to Knocke in scoring (with 17) and to Jordan in rebounding (with 18) as he led a balanced Pointer offensive. Half of Gurtler's baskets came on rebound plays. Three teammates—Bill Kuse, Sam Antcliffe and Hank Sampson—joined Gurtler in the double-figure parade.

Herold Checked
Oddly enough, one of the Pointers' most dangerous scorers, guard Gary Herold, added only three points to the total. Jim Schulze's zealous defending played a big part in curtailing the Herold productivity.

Schulze also popped in four of eight field goal efforts to tie Joe Lamers for third place in Vike scoring. Jim Rasmussen, slowed by a minor injury, added seven points to the hosts' cause.

The first 10 minutes produced give-and-take basketball with neither side able to open more than four points worth of daylight. With 9:46 left in the half, Kuse put away a 15-footer to break the game's final tie (17-all) and the Pointers were never again headed.

They opened a 38-31 gap by intermission time.

A Rasmussen rebound shot brought the Vikes to within five points at the outset of the second half. But, the Pointers manufactured an 8-0 flurry (with four different scorers taking part) to lead, 46-33.

Jordan Coins 6
Jordan brought the Pointers back to earth with a 6-point explosion that drew only a 1-goal rebuttal from Gurtler and reduced the visitors' lead to nine (48-39).

After Gurtler tipped in another 2-pointer, the Vikes whistled home eight straight tallies to pare their deficit to three (50-47) with 10:19 remaining to be played. Schulze counted on a short jumper, Jordan free-tossed, Lamers hooked in a goal and notched a free throw and Knocke hit from 18 feet out.

In the next four minutes, the teams traded five points, and the margin remained a slim three (55-52). At this juncture, the visitors unleashed another of the game's numerous 8-point bundles. Gurtler's rebound goal touched off the 8 to 0 point run that put the game out of reach at 63-52 with about 3 minutes left.

Both teams' shooting showed the effects of 3-week holiday lay-offs. "Point" shot goals at a 35.1 per cent rate (26 of 74), while the Vikes finished at .348 (23-for-66).

Olympic Ski Team to Appear At Eau Claire
Eau Claire — Candidates for the U. S. Olympic ski jumping team began practicing on hills near here today for the annual Eau Claire Ski club tournament Sunday.

The squad, coached by Lloyd Severud, plans to stay here through Sunday and then go to Ishpeming, Mich., for further work.

The tournament here this weekend will be on a 136-foot high hill. Gene Kotlarek, of Duluth, Minn., one of the Olympic hopefuls and Ted Lahner of Eau Claire hold the hill record of 197 feet.

Texas Aggies Cuff Baylor Five, 68-51

West Virginia Gets Back on Win Track; Kentucky Also Cops

By the Associated Press

The Texas Aggies, sub, have had enough of this also-ran nonsense in Southwest conference basketball.

Triggered by a smooth-shooting sophomore and a couple of junior college transfers, they're aiming for their first undisputed conference title in 37 years—and building a national reputation while they're at it.

One of the nation's four major college teams still unbeaten, A & M made it nine in a row Tuesday night with a 68-51 cuffing of Baylor that launched the official Southwest race.

With Carroll Broussard the touted sophomore and the Stanley twins—Don and Pat—the junior college newcomers, the Aggies earlier established themselves as the team to beat by sweeping through the SWC's annual Christmas tournament.

13th-Ranked
Broussard had 15 points, Don Stanley 18 and Pat Stanley 13 for coach Bobby Rogers' thirteenth-ranked Aggies, who have a right good amount of makin' up to do for previous A&M clubs. A&M hasn't been undisputed champ of the Southwest since 1923.

Third-ranked West Virginia and All-America Jerry West got back on the winning and scoring track, and Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats—trying to avoid the Baron's worst season ever—looked considerably revived in Tuesday night's other features.

West Virginia and West, stopped cold by California's great defenses in the Los Angeles classic title game last week, returned to familiar surroundings and whipped Furman, 95-79, for the Mounties' fifty-fifth consecutive Southern conference victory and their thirty-eighth straight home court triumph.

Kentucky, out of the AP's top 20 rankings for the first time in years, built its record to 7-4 with a 76-59 rout of Vanderbilt at Vandy. Only six teams in coach Rupp's 29 years at Kentucky have lost more than five games in a season.

only 208 points in four games to rank seventh in offense. The Raiders, however, did a fair job the last time out in holding Kimberly to 58 points, losing by only eight.

Kaukauna Favored
Kaukauna, which has done well except for its run-in with Kimberly, should pick up its fourth win and remain tied with the Menasha-Shawano victor for second place. Clintonville has the poorest defense in the circuit to date, with 296 points allowed.

With four sets of games out of the way, Ristau has 89 points. Leroy Weyenberg of Kaukauna and Shawano's Ron Hoppe each have 85, and Don Hearden and Darrell Jansen of Kimberly next in line with 84 and 77, respectively.

Free Throws Give East JVs Win Over Ghosts
Kaukauna — Accuracy at the free throw line led the Green Bay East junior varsity to a 43 to 37 victory over Kaukauna Tuesday night here.

The Red Devils connected on 17 of 26 tries while Kaukauna managed only 9 of 22 charity tosses. The Ghosts had a 14 to 13 edge in the field goal department.

It was a close game all the way as East opened with an 11 to 10 first period lead and it was 19 to 18 at the half. In the third frame East counted 10 while Kaukauna had nine to push the winners' margin to two points. Green Bay iced it with 14 markers in the last period, eight on free throws, while Kaukauna scored 10 points.

Bill Van Dyke led Kaukauna with seven points. High for East was Jim Kirt with 12 markers.

New Honor for Sherry
Los Angeles — Larry Sherry, pitching hero of the champion Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series last fall, has been chosen "California Athlete of the Year" for 1959 in a poll conducted by the Associated Press, it was announced today.

LADIES DAY

Three Candidates Withdraw Papers, Seek Reelection

Kaukauna — Three incumbents took out nomination papers at the city clerk's office, one of whom is already assured of competition.

George Simon took out papers for the post of Third ward alderman, seeking his fourth term. Simon, a mechanic at Gustman's garage, is married and lives at 118 W. Sixth street. He will be opposed by James McDaniels.

Matt Verfurth, 310 W. Sixth street, owner of Verfurth Shoe store, took out papers for Third ward county supervisor. He will be seeking his ninth term and currently is a member of the highway committee.

Jacob Weyenberg, 115 Sarah street, owner of Weyenberg's Meat Market, Appleton, will be seeking his seventh term as county supervisor from the Second ward. He presently serves on the welfare committee.

First Building Permit Of New Year Issued

Kaukauna — The first building permit of the new year was issued Tuesday to Royal Clothing company, 114 W. Wisconsin avenue, by Lothar Kemp, building inspector.

The owners plan to have a new front put on the building, estimated cost set at $1,800.

Art of Rug Hooking To Be Demonstrated For Homemakers Club

Kaukauna — Mrs. Arthur Hoppe, instructor in vocational schools at Neenah, Appleton, and Kaukauna, will speak and give a demonstration on rug hooking at a meeting of the Afternoon Homemakers club at 1:45 p. m. Friday at the Kaukauna Vocational school.

Mrs. E. J. Bolinske will be program chairman while Mrs. Peter DeBruin will head the social committee assisted by Mrs. Hollis Whitman, Mrs. Dan Hennessy, Mrs. Harry Borree, Mrs. Roy Mahn, Mrs. Henry Killian, Mrs. Olive Mill, Mrs. T. H. Boebel, Mrs. Harry Treptow and Mrs. Joseph Scherer. A dessert luncheon will precede the meeting.

'Toll Bridge for Polio' Set Saturday by Legion Units

Little Chute — Legionnaires from three communities, representing two Legion posts, will join forces Saturday to conduct the annual "Toll Bridge For Polio" on the Community bridge. Men will gather at 4 a. m. to begin stopping motorists for contributions. Cars will be given stickers showing they have contributed thus permitting additional bridge crossings without interference in traffic flow. During 1959, 71 cases of polio were cared for in the county including nine in Little Chute, 12 in Kimberly and five in Combined Locks. Men from these villages will conduct the Saturday campaign. Last year $26,468 was collected in the county campaign in January and $2,600 in a summer drive. All these funds are exhausted.

Combined Locks Holy Name Unit To Seat Officers

Combined Locks — Installation of officers will be held at a meeting of the St. Paul Holy Name society at 8 p. m. Thursday in the church with the Rev. S. A. Borusky, diocesan director, in charge of the ceremony, speech and benediction. Approximately 95 Holy Name members are expected to participate and a 5-voice choir from St. Joseph church, Appleton, will sing. Officers include Glen Griesbach, president; Maurice Biersteker, vice president, and Roger Jansen, secretary-treasurer.

1,825 Tax Bills At Little Chute Mailed Today

Little Chute — A total of 1,825 tax bills were placed in the mail today by Mrs. Irene Versteegen, clerk-treasurer, including 1,008 real estate notices and 127 personal property. The treasurer is to collect $230,769.66 including $230,637.66 in real estate and personal property taxes, $9,131.45 in special assessments and 55 cents occupational tax. Dates established in January for payment of taxes at the treasurer's office are 11, 12, 13, 14, 18, 20, 21, 25, 26, 27, 28 and 29. Dates on which taxes will be collected the next month are Feb. 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 17, 18, 19, 22, 23, 24, 25, and 26. No collections will be made on Saturday with the exception of Jan. 30 and Feb. 27. Tax payment hours including the two Saturdays are from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 4 p. m.

Dairy Licenses Cause City Council Problem

Of Property With Manufacturing Concern

Kaukauna—Members of the common council were faced with the problem of licensing eight dairies to distribute milk in the city during 1960 as the present ordinances regarding license regulations are obsolete, according to a statute passed by the legislature in 1959.

Previously dairies were licensed on the basis of number of farms serving them plus an inspection fee. The new state statute is not clear to city officials and the city attorney in several parts, thus a ruling is being sought from the League of Municipalities. League officials have informed the attorney, they too are confused on the new statute.

2nd Semester Classes For Adults at KVS to Get Underway Monday

Kaukauna — Afternoon and evening classes for adults for the second semester will get underway Monday, according to Dominic Bordini, director. Many classes retained from the first semester have main- tained regular meeting sched- ules while related classes were made to coincide with first semester meeting dates. Information on openings and enrollment can be had by the new statute. To permit dairies to operate

Addition Proposed To Industrial Park

63 Acres Would Cost $104,000, Sewer Expenses About $83,000

A 63-acre addition to the industrial park, costing $104,000 for land and another $83,000 for sewer service, was recommended by the board of public works and industrial development committee Tuesday.

The land consists of two parcels: a narrow corridor, 63 feet by 1,200 feet, north of the present park and joining it to the larger lot to the north and west. George Vanden Heuvel owns the corridor, for which he wants $10,900 if paid for before April 1, or $11,000 on a time-payment plan. The 1.75 acre strip would cost about $6,000 an acre.

The other lot is owned by Roland Abitz and consists of 61.8 acres, for which Abitz wants $92,760, with $22,760 down and the balance paid at $14,000 yearly for five years. Vanden Heuvel requested permission to continue occupying his house on Perkins street until the city needs the property for industrial development. He would pay $75 a month rent.

Soo Line Bisects
The lots are nearly cut into two triangles by the Soo Line tracks.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski estimated it would cost $83,000 to install sewer for existing industrial park properties and the proposed acquisitions. The entire cost would be assessed back to eventual purchasers, he said. Without the new, 63 acres, sewer costs would be about $31,000.

The $83,000 figure includes $23,000 for a sewage lift station and force main and $60,000 for trunk sewers. Duszynski said. A smaller lift station and force main would be needed if the city did not acquire the additional property, he said.

The Appleton State bank in a letter from Gus A. Zuehlke, president, offered to lend $104,000 at 3 per cent interest, payable whenever the property is sold.

Ald. Thomas Schneider said it would not be necessary to borrow the money to pay for the land because payments could be made when the land is purchased from the city, thus lessening interest charges. "Outside financing is not necessary," he said.

In another action, the committee approved Mayor Mitchell's participation in a committee to hire an executive secretary for the Industrial Development corporation. George A. Howden, representing the corporation, said the secretary would promote and develop the industrial park and carry through after sales. Harold C. Adams and V. I. Minahan are the other two committee members. The committee will determine what qualifications the secretary should have and will conduct interviews for the post.

The committee also authorized Duszynski as the city member of the 3-man committee proposed to establish restrictions on park uses. The other two members would be from the chamber of commerce committee on industrial development and the corporation.

Two Manikins Calmly ignore the desolation around them after a car crashed into the southwest display windows of Gloudehans Company, Inc., 430 W. College avenue, shortly before 1 p.m. Tuesday. Cecile M. Brown, 330 Taylor street, Kaukauna, the driver, told police she backed from a parking stall, reentered it to wait for traffic, then something went wrong. Behind her car was a smashed parking meter, a damaged mail box, a sign bent from its concrete base and 24 feet of skid marks across the sidewalk. The car rested its front end and one front wheel in the showcase.

committee also was authorized to attend a seminar at Purdue university, West La Fayette, Ind., Jan. 13 to 15. The seminar would discuss industrial park problems. Registrations and meals would cost $35 a participant, all expenses paid by the city. Members of the committee are Mayor Mitchell, Ralph Decker, Aldermen Loos, Mrs. Stillings, Wagner and Hanemann.

Tiny Cancer Victim Dies

Timmy Probst, 4, Lived to Celebrate Last Christmas

Timothy Probst, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Probst, 2020 N. Union street, the tiny cancer victim who wanted to go home for his last Christmas, died at 10 p. m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Timmy's fatal cancer was discovered last May, after he fell and struck his side. An operation then seemed successful, but in August the disease began to spread and last month hope for the lad was given up.

Timmy went home for Christmas day to see the other five Probst children for the last time. His parents had purchased everything he wanted from Santa, including clothing. Mrs. Probst said then, "He'll never be able to use it, but..."

'An Angel Now'
He returned to the hospital immediately after celebrating his last holiday.

"We know he's an angel now," Mrs. Probst said.

Timmy was born July 26, 1955, in Appleton, and was confirmed into the Catholic faith early in December.

Funeral services will be at 9 a. m. Friday at St. Therese Catholic church, with burial in St. Joseph cemetery.

Friends may call at the Ellenbecker Funeral home after 2 p. m. Thursday until services.

Besides his parents, survivors include two brothers, Michael and Donald Paul, both at home; three sisters, Terrie, Mary Lou and Betty Jo, all at home; and a grandmother, Mrs. Paul Abendroth, Appleton.

Fate in Balance

No Decision Made on Mall Report; 2 Authors Disagree on Procedure

The fate of the Kalamazoo-Toledo mall report still is unresolved after Tuesday's board of public works meeting, where two of the report's authors disagreed about what should be done with it.

The board almost decided to discuss the 5-page document thoroughly, then decided to hold it for a special meeting with the council Jan. 13, then cancelled the special meeting, but promised the report would receive complete attention very soon.

The report calls for a long-range engineering study by an outside firm before any downtown revitalization is tackled. It also advocates establishing a parking authority, seriously considering the application of the mall concept within the next two years, studying traffic perimeter street problems to develop flow around the central business area, and constructing parking ramps.

Advertise Appleton

These projects would "advertise the city, revitalize the downtown area and strengthen the business core," the report committee said.

Originally the report had been turned over to the public safety committee for discussion, but that committee turned it back to the board, which made the mall trip in October and which had the report prepared.

Hesitatingly, City Atty. Don L. Jury, one of the report's authors, said the "crucial" phases of the work should be turned over immediately to committees which have jurisdiction. "The parking problem should go to the public safety committee, the park problem to the park board, and so on," he said.

But Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski, another author, disagreed. Just studying the phases will not get the overall job done. You'll ignore the complete picture if you do it that way," he insisted.

Jury replied, "But the board does not have the jurisdictional right to make

N.D.; four sisters, Mrs. Howard Aldrich, Mrs. Seymour Strong and Mrs. Edward Hebblewhite, all of Amherst, and Mrs. Arthur Thompson, Iowa; and 13 grandchildren.

Mrs. Armanda Brown

Mrs. Armanda Brown, 1340 W. Pine street, died early this morning. The Wichmann Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Rader Services

Funeral services for John J. Rader, 62, route 2, Waupaca, will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at St. Mary Magdalene Catholic church, Waupaca, with burial in the parish cemetery.

Rader died at Stevens Point, after a long illness. He was born Dec. 16, 1897, in Portage county.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. William Lucas, Mrs. Oliver Beck and Miss Gene Rader, all of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Glen Sheveland, Waupaca; one son, Leonard, Wisconsin Rapids; one sister, Helen, Neenah; two brothers, Edward, Neenah, and Myron, Amherst; and 17 grandchildren.

The rosary will be recited at 8 p. m. Friday at the Holy Funeral home, Waupaca, where friends may call after 1:30 p. m. Friday.

Stevenson Services

Funeral services for Mrs. Ray F. Stevenson, 69, of 824 E. Atlantic street, who died unexpectedly at 9 a. m. Tuesday, will be at 10 a. m. Friday at St. Therese Catholic church. Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery.

Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral home from Thursday noon until the time of services. The rosary will be recited at 7:30 and 8 p. m. Thursday.

parking or park proposals. Those rights belong to the individual committees."

Ald. Thomas Schneider, chairman of the public safety committee, said, "The board should point out to each committee what is needed in all these areas. Then the committees can go to work. The board of public works oversees the total operation and planning and the board must advise the committees as to what is needed — as recommended in the report."

Parking Authority
Jury replied that one of the things recommended in the report is a parking authority, which should be established immediately, he said.

Ald. Roy Pointer insisted the board should tackle one problem, settle it, then go on to something else. "We've got all sorts of major projects hanging over from past meetings," said he. "Take area assessments, for example. We should set a series of special meetings on each problem until we make some headway," he said.

"The parking authority will come up Jan. 19," Mayor Mitchell said. "We'd better hold this over for a special meeting with the whole council," he added.

The board decided on Jan. 13, after considering every date after today's council meeting. Later in the meeting, when the industrial development commission, including several aldermen and the mayor, was authorized to attend a conference that day the action was rescinded.

"We'll bring it up again at the next meeting," the mayor said.

Sugar Beet Grower Meeting Scheduled
Payment, Contracts, Allotments
Main Items of Planned Discussion
Chilton — Abandonment, contracts and allotments will be the main items of business discussed at a series of district sugar beet grower's meetings throughout the state.
Of interest to area growers will be the following meetings: District five, composed of Calumet county, at 1 p. m. Jan. 8 at the Chilton city hall; district eight, Outagamie, Winnebago and Waupaca counties, 1 p. m. Jan. 12 in the Little Chute village hall, and the district nine meeting at 1 p. m. in the Bobest hall, Bellvue.
District nine is made up of Brown, Marinette, Oconto and Shawano counties.
Henry Heimann, Chilton, president of the Wisconsin State Sugar Beet Growers association, is attending all nine district meetings which began Monday in the southern part of the state. He hopes to have abandonment payments increased to growers who lost all or a portion of their crops because of inclement weather.
Approximately 10 per cent of some 8,600 acres of state sugar beets were lost when an extremely wet fall and early snow hampered digging.
The crop, in areas harvested, averaged out to about 12 tons per acre, an above average yield though below the average of the 1958 bumper crop.
Sugar content of beets this year fell off from the high of 18 per cent set in 1958, to about 12½ per cent. Because of high moisture content, beets harvested late in the season were extremely low in content pulling the overall average down. In fact, late beets were so low in sugar that harvesting was not economically feasible, Heimann said.
Totals Low
Close to 100,000 tons were delivered to the association's refinery, the Menominee Sugar company, Green Bay. They were valued at $2 million. Both figures are approximately 15 per cent below last year's totals.
In addition, growers will hear reports by their director, sugar company officials and elect delegates to the annual meeting. The meetings are open to anyone interested in sugar beets.

Farmers Should Be Able to Buy Certified Grasses
Wisconsin farmers should be able to purchase all the certified legume and grass seed they need this coming year with one exception. There may be some shortages of bromegrass seed, especially northern grown.
Seed supplies are down some from last year but not enough to create shortages. Wisconsin is one of the biggest users of grass seeds. Farmers here each year use 10 to 12 million pounds of alfalfa seed, 8 to 10 million pounds of red clover seed, 4 to 5 million pounds timothy seed and 2 million pounds bromegrass seed.
Very little of this seed is produced in the state. Our farmers are largely dependent on out-of-state seed producers. The bulk of alfalfa and ladino seed is produced in the west. Red clover and timothy seed come from the corn belt area. Bromegrass seed comes from Canada or the Dakotas.
Prices for seed will be fairly steady. Vernal alfalfa seed may be up slightly. Ranger alfalfa seed probably won't change much. Clover seed prices may be down slightly.

Rural Economy Change Farm Week Highlight
General, Special Programs Show Current Agricultural Revolution
The influx of visitors who attend the 1960 farm and home week at the University of Wisconsin Jan. 25 through 29 will study the rapidly changing rural economy. General and special programs are geared to the current revolution in agriculture.
A Jan. 28 general program will tackle the problem of high production. George Brandow, an agricultural economist from Pennsylvania State university, will discuss managing our capacity to produce. Karl D. Butler, farm counselor AVCO Manufacturing company, Ithaca, N. Y., will discuss finding new uses and outlets for farm products.
A Jan. 27 general program will feature changes in rural America. Paul Johnson, editor of Prairie Farmer magazine from Chicago will discuss social changes. W. R. Parks, dean of instruction from Iowa State university, will discuss political and economic changes.
Explains Theme
R. K. Froker, dean of the college of agriculture at Wisconsin, explains the theme of farm and home week as "changes in the rural economy are technological, economic, social and political. They affect individuals, families, communities and society as a whole."
"For example," says Froker, "More than a million acres of farm land per year are used for new factories, homes, highways, parks and other non-farm purposes. Cities are spreading out, and more and more people are moving into the country."
Sectional Meetings
He continues, "There is also an off-the-farm movement, and farm folks look increasingly to towns and cities for farm supplies and markets."
"In the new sense, agriculture includes the firms that furnish farm equipment and supplies, the more than four million farms, and those who process and market farm products. All three areas are undergoing rapid change that will affect our total economy."
Sectional meetings will carry out the theme of change. Examples are meetings on planning for tomorrow's population, agricultural adjustment and suburban growth, future size of the successful farm business, integration in the dairy business, state and local taxation and the farmer, technological development in the dairy industry, school districts and world citizenship.

These Little Pigs are going to market—but not just yet. Nineteen tiny porkers nuzzle their mother and eat in preparation for the dinner table on the Norman Marks farm north of Dale. The sow, a cross between a Yorkshire and Landrace was bred with a Landrace. Her litter of 19 was 12 above the state average of seven.

Record Books for Farms Available
Farm record keeping books for 1960 are available at the county extension offices.
The 90 page book offers an orderly record keeping system of farm and family income and expenses, as well as space for keeping track of crop yields and herd production.
Efficient farm management is the result of proper record keeping and studies, the extension department believes. The books sell for 25 cents each and can be picked up at a courthouse extension office.
Farmers' Tax Guides Now Available
Farmers' tax guides are now available at county extension offices or from local internal revenue offices.
The publication explains most income tax rules which apply to farmers. It is written in plain language and contains many examples of actual situations.

Rules for Improved Conservation Listed

Various Units Give Annual Reports on Activities to Outagamie Representatives

Basic rules for better conservation work and understanding were cited by Randal Briggs, Green Bay, area 4 conservationist, at the Outagamie county soil conservation, forestry and wildlife annual program planning meeting Tuesday.

"We live next to conservation advances and don't realize it," Briggs told representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, state forester, wildlife division, agricultural stabilization and conservation, farm home administration and the county agriculture extension division.

Necessity of recognizing the responsibility of others to do a good job in conservation with all interested groups, was the first rule Briggs listed. Knowing the total job to be done in conservation was the second.

Canada Offering Pork Abroad

Washington —(U)—The Canadian government is offering a part of its surplus pork for charitable uses at home and abroad.

That government has acquired more than 90 million pounds of canned pork under a program designed to support producer prices of hogs.

In reporting this the foreign agricultural service said Canada is offering the meat free to approved Canadian and international welfare organizations in carload lots.

In another world livestock development, West Germany has issued import licenses for about 29 million pounds of frozen beef and mutton from Australia and New Zealand.

Give Spray Pump Check

Little Attention May Prevent Harmful Rust, Residues

Give your sprayer pump a little attention in the shop this winter. You'll be repaid by better performance next summer, if you do. A bath and oil treatment will get rid of harmful residues and prevent rusting.

First, flush the entire sprayer with an ammonia and water solution. Then, follow the ammonia with a clear water rinse. Drain the sprayer boom, hoses, and pump tanks completely. A little soluble oil or radiator rust inhibitor in the pump openings will stop rusting. Rotate the pump a couple of times to spread the oil around inside. Then store it in a dry place.

Remove the spray nozzles and wash them, use a soft brush, not a wire brush. Store them dry or in fuel oil or kerosene. Put the hoses where they won't be exposed to oil or sunlight.

Hang the sprayer boom in a dry place off the ground. This way it won't be bumped and damaged during the winter.

Approximately $100,000 was approved for cost sharing with farmers who installed soil conservation practices. They also provided $4,700.00 to hire part time aids to assist the SCS technical staff. They are planning to appropriate $4,300 for the 1960 program year to hire part time aids.

Farm Machines Made to Last, But Lubrication Adds to Life

Good farm machines are made to work hard and last long. They don't have to be pampered.

But there's one thing that can't be neglected to get the most out of equipment—proper and regular lubrication.

When metal moves against metal—as it does in practically any machine—there must be that thin layer of oil or grease between. Otherwise, there is wear—and that costs money!

Check Oil

On a machine like a baler, for example, it doesn't take a whole lot of time and attention to do the lubricating job right. But the few steps involved are mighty important.

First, it's necessary to use a good grade of oil in the engine at all times. Check the oil level after every eight hours of operation, and change the oil after every 50 hours of use.

Use the recommended grade, because too-heavy oil causes excessive wear in start-up; too-light oil, excessive wear in running.

Look In To Gears

Even if the crankcase oil still looks pretty good after 50 hours of operation, change it anyway. You can be sure after that length of time the oil is thinned by gasoline and contains water from condensation. Using oil far beyond its recommended life is asking for extra engine wear and corrosion.

In the main gear box, use the recommended lubricant. Keep the gear box filled to the oil level plug. Change the oil in the gear box at the beginning of each haling season.

Best Lubricant

Pay particular attention to the roller chains of your equipment. These can look well-lubricated when they are not. By brushing on a heavy grease, you're not penetrating to the chain pins where wear occurs. And only a little wear around each pin makes the whole chain seem to 'stretch.'

One one - thousandths of an inch of wear, multiplied by the number of pins, can add up to real chain trouble.

The best lubricant for roller chains usually is a light oil or a 50-50 mixture of No. 10 motor oil and kerosene. In heavy dust, it may be advisable to run roller chains without oil. The reason: Gritty material clings to the oil and wear is increased.

Conservation Speaking Test Set Tuesday

3 Divisions Planned For Contest at County Courthouse

Outagamie county residents interested in giving a speech on conservation will have an opportunity at the conservation speaking contest at the court house at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Three divisions will include adult, all those over 21 years of age; secondary, those enrolled in a high school or not yet 21, and elementary, all those enrolled up to and including eighth grade.

The talk should cover some phase of conservation and relate in some way to soil and water divisions of the work. Talks should be seven to 10 minutes in length from memory or note cards.

Winners in each division will be eligible for a district contest. Top three in each division will receive a trophy.

Agriculture Industry Still Has Problem Of Production, Income

Solution Not Seen in Supports; Suggest Gear Output to Demand

Agriculture is one industry that will have continuing production - price - income problems. And lower support prices are not likely to solve them.

Robert L. Clodius, agricultural economist, calls for a national food and fiber policy aimed at gearing production to demand.

"A free agricultural market simply cannot be counted on to gear supply to demand at reasonable prices to producers," said Clodius. "It is a mistaken notion that in agriculture a free market guarantees perfect competition."

A free market for agriculture is different from a free market in industry, he pointed out, because the two kinds of market structures are basically different.

Industrial producers in a free market have several ways of adjusting production to meet demand — by changing their production schedules, by adjusting inventories or even by simply refusing to bargain in good faith when a union contract expires.

But agriculture, with five million farms, seasonal production, continued improvements in technology and no way to plan output for the entire industry, ends up with a chronic oversupply problem.

Pressure to Produce

The individual farmer produces as much as he can, simply because this is his only way to meet the problem of falling prices. With pressure to produce so strong, farmers take advantage of every technological improvement to increase production.

"This helped bring about the current problem of surplus farm commodities," Clodius said. "It is why administration policy must be something more than just getting rid of short-run farm surpluses."

Unlike the non-agricultural industries, farming has no market power and no way to bring about planned production. Clodius stated that policy makers must bring about the gearing of supply to demand, recognizing the basic problem of unplanned total supply.

Allotments Fall

"The individual farmer must realize the effect of total farm output on price and find a way to adjust production to meet demand," said Clodius.

Acres allotments have failed to give this kind of control over production. The pressure for capacity production has simply been felt in higher yields per acre. Total production has increased.

"A surer plan would be to let each farmer know how much he can market, so he can then adjust production efforts to get the most efficient output," Clodius emphasized this does not require "rigid" production control. Production should be adjusted to meet flexible goals set up by Congress, he said.

The goals should call for enough food and fiber to meet current needs of United States and foreign markets, food production for state department policy and necessary reserves.

Stopgap Programs

The most important thing about forward production control is that it places the policy emphasis on production instead of price.

"Society is concerned about prices and farm income, but society should be most concerned with having the food and fiber the nation needs," Clodius said.

Because of its market structure, agriculture will have continuing price-income problems, Clodius believes. But forward production control does offer the possibility of continuing solutions by controlling one more economic variable, adjustment of supply to demand.

"Agriculture is at the mercy of a constant series of stop-gap programs," said Clodius. "But a positive program of forward production control will serve the national interest for years to come."

New System Planned For '60 Farm Census

Washington — The government plans a new system for listing farmers in next year's census. All rural dwellers will not be counted as farmers.

In the past, the bureau lumped several groups of people together under the heading of farm population. Under the new setup, the bureau will consider only actual farmers as the farm population.

The bureau said it did not know how much this will drop the total of farm population but the figure would be substantial. At present, the bureau estimates the U. S. farm population at 21,172,000.

Feeder Pigs Still Must be Tagged On Ear by Dealers

Feeder pig dealers are still required to identify by ear tagging all feeder pigs which they receive into their possession.

The change made in August, 1959, repealed the requirement of a health certificate accompanying each sale or transfer of feeder pigs sold within the state.

The remaining subsections of the feeder pig regulations, still in force, provide for identification by tagging of feeder pigs, written certification from the owner or transferor as to number and identification of the swine involved, description of and conditions for using ear tags and the maintaining of feeder pig transaction records. The records must be filed with the department of agriculture.

Penalties can be invoked if the regulations are not complied with.

Shipments of feeder pigs to other states must meet the requirements of the state of destination. Some states require interstate health certificates, others prior permits.

Try Green Mountain broccoli. It's a new early broccoli bluish green, with heads made up of tight small buds. It's ideal for freezing.

New Types

Also want to try Badger Market cabbage. This is a medium early variety resistant to disease. It's particularly well suited to home gardens—with a small head. And it stands well without bursting.

Early purple head and royal purple cauliflower are good. These are sometimes referred to as purple broccoli. They're fine textured, mild, with excellent table quality.

Lakeland head lettuce is a new medium size, crisp head lettuce. It's well suited to

Waupaca County '59 Prize Animal Owned By Leonard Kobiske

Waupaca—A registered Holstein owned by Leonard Kobiske, Waupaca, broke all prior county records for total milk and butter fat production during 1959.

The prized animal bears the title of Ormsby Model Bess and produced 25,624 pounds of milk, 981 pounds of butter fat and had an average 3.8 test. The record is for 365 days on twice milking.

Her record is seconded by her dam, Woodbine Ormsby Bess, who held former production records with a 23,709 milk poundage and 837 poundage of butter fat.

An average Holstein produces 375 pounds of butter fat. Kobiske's cow nearly triples average production. The Holstein is due to freshen about Jan. 3.

Kobiske's herd includes mainly registered Holsteins. He milks from 36 to 30 cows daily on his farm about two miles west of Waupaca on Highway 10. In addition to the prize cow, his herd is usually among the top ten in monthly DHIA production records.

Mission Planned

Sherwood — A mission will be conducted Jan. 17 through Jan. 24 at Sacred Heart Catholic church by a St. Louis Redemptorist priest.

Harvest Queen is a popular new muskmelon, particularly suited to central and southern Wisconsin. The flesh is deep orange, extra thick and fine textured.

Red Prince is a brand new radish. It's resistant to disease with round, red, well-shaped roots.

Fireball is an excellent early tomato. It sets fruit under cool temperatures. Fruits are smooth, uniform and globe-shaped. Vines are small. Set plants closer together than normal.

Sugar Baby is a new "ice-box" size watermelon. Fruits are about 8 inches across. Flesh is extra solid, and crisp. Flavor is excellent.

Menasha to Act Against Further Home Flooding

Du Charme to Ask Officials to Meet on Storm Water Problem

Menasha — Mayor R. G. DuCharme will try to set up a Menasha council meeting with Neenah officials and the Neenah Menasha sewerage commission to discuss needed action to prevent recurrence of recent basement flooding.

Reelect Bank Directors

Board Increased To 12 at Menasha First National Menasha — All nine directors were reelected Tuesday and the board of directors of First National Bank of Menasha was expanded by three members, K. C. Kimball, executive vice president, announced today.

The annual organizational meeting of bank directors has not been scheduled, Kimball added.

Reelected directors of First National Bank of Menasha were T. D. Spalding, George Banta, Jr., Emmett Below, W. J. Gerbrici, Leo Croy, A. C. Hilde, Jr., R. M. Sensenbrenner, D. C. Shepard, Jr., and George A. Whiting II.

Newly named directors are Melvin F. Crowley, Menasha attorney; John Wilterding, vice president of George Banta company; and Kimball.

Bank of Menasha stockholders will meet at 3 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 14, in the bank, to elect directors. The directors will organize and name bank officers for the coming year immediately afterward.

Stockholders of National Manufacturers Bank, Neenah, will meet at 4 p.m. next Tuesday, in the bank. After election, the directors will meet to name officers.

First National Bank of Neenah stockholders also will meet at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the bank. Directors named man who smashed the glass then may not be able to meet until the following week for an organization and election of officers.

Progress Report The mayor said the disposal plant is "handling sewage as efficiently and readily as it can."

DuCharme gave a progress report on the proposed Ninth street storm sewer on request from Ald. Louis Gammy of the Fourth ward, which was one of the hardest hit in the post-Christmas flooding.

City Atty. William R. Giese added that deeds are prepared for procuring the necessary.

Question Suspect In Armed Robbery

Neenah — Police today are questioning a suspect in the armed robbery late Monday night of Mrs. Winifred Knutson, 146 Meade street. Her wallet containing $11 was taken from her at her home by a man who smashed the glass then may not be able to meet until the following week for an organization and election of officers.

Questions County Appropriation for Lake Fly Research

Oshkosh Supervisor Wonders if $5,000 Donation May be Illegal

Oshkosh — The legality of Winnebago county contributing $5,000 to the Winnebago Lake Fly Research, Inc., a non-profit organization sponsoring research on the Lake Winnebago lake fly problem, was questioned at Tuesday afternoon's county board session by Supv. William Kelsh, Oshkosh.

Kelsh cited a recent attorney general's opinion involving another county contributing to the support of a non-profit organization which was operating the child guidance center for the county. The attorney general in that case ruled the county could not make such contributions under the law.

The county board asked the district attorney's office to submit a legal opinion on this appropriation to the lake fly research group. The research is being done by personnel of the University of Wisconsin and the Oshkosh State college and the non-profit corporation is handling the securing of funds, which includes $10,000 from industry and private individuals.

Holds up Payment Meanwhile, the board directed that no money be paid to the research group until the legality of the appropriation is determined.

The board voted its contribution at its budget session. Transferral of $20,000 from the general fund for remodeling the county law library and welfare department offices failed to get the necessary two-thirds vote and was declared lost. The vote was 28 to 20 in favor of the transferral.

The board last September directed the public building committee to proceed with the project, which was to be included in the 1960 budget. Supv. Floyd Shurbret, Algoma township, public building committee chairman, said Tuesday his committee had forgotten to include that amount in its budget request.

Ignored Stop Sign, Driver Forfeits Fine Menasha — Charles V. Schmidt, 47, 641 Paris street, forfeited $5 and costs today in Police Justice Arthur J. Ales' court for ignoring a stop sign.

He was arrested at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday after failing to stop at Main and Milwaukee and Chute and Milwaukee streets. The arresting policeman said he blew his whistle three times, but the driver failed to stop. He got the car's license number and traced the driver.

Farmer Tax Guides Available at Banks of Winnebago County Oshkosh — The 1960 edition of the farmer's tax guide published by the internal revenue service is available at no charge from all banks of Winnebago county. The publications are made available to the various agricultural colleges who in turn distribute them, based on farm population.

Distribution to the banks was made by the county agricultural extension office at the courthouse. The publication explains most of the income tax rules which apply to farmers. It includes a checklist for farm income and expenses.

The 15 chapters discuss and illustrate items pertaining to farm business expenses, personal exemptions, depreciation, capital gains and losses, soil bank and gasoline tax refunds. Other tax guides on federal income taxes are available from the local internal revenue office at the Oshkosh post office.

Information on state taxes is available at the Appleton office of the state department of taxation.

Teacher to Speak To Neenah Rotary Neenah — Robert Thom, Neenah high school teacher, will speak on "Practical Citizenship" at the Neenah Rotary car's license number and traced the driver.

Meeting Thursday noon at the Valley Inn.

No Settlement by Noon In Foundry Dispute

Neenah — Settlement of a dispute between Neenah Foundry company and local 121 had not been reached by noon today. Negotiations continued through the afternoon.

The union Saturday, after winning a strike vote, announced its 226 members would go on strike Thursday unless a contract agreement is reached.

The basic disagreement is whether the foundry will operate as a union shop. Wages also are a factor. The previous contract expired Nov. 30.

Fills Vacancy in Menasha; Term Runs Until 1961

Menasha — Appointment of Elmer Quayle, 719 Broad street, to the Menasha board of education was ratified Tuesday by the common council.

Mayor R. G. DuCharme told the council he is a salesman in the roadbinder division of Kimberly-Clark corporation. Quayle lives at 719 Broad street.

Quayle will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Robert Cole. Cole was appointed last May to succeed James Omachinski, who resigned last January. The term expires June 30, 1961.

The council also: Approved the 1960 bridge-tender agreement with the state highway commission;

Allowed one fireman to attend a firefighters' conference Jan. 11-15 at Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., at an estimated cost of $130. Fire Chief Ed Heim has named Lt. Roy Verhoven to attend.

Learned from Dec. 15 meeting minutes of the Neenah-Menasha Sewerage commission that the park and recreation board was authorized to flood an ice-skating rink north of the sewage plant. A 3 percent pay raise for commission employees for 1960 also was granted, the minutes disclosed.

Approved sale of a 1942 model road grader to Badger Highways for $450.

Ratified street committee action forbidding filling station operators from throwing snow into streets. Snow from filling station areas will be removed by city trucks after church, school and downtown areas are cleaned up.

Oshkosh Youths Get 18-Month Sentences In State Reformatory

Oshkosh — Two Oshkosh youths this morning were sentenced to 18 months in the state reformatory by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsing for breaking and entering the Roosevelt school here Dec. 19 and taking a safe containing $70.

The pair, Jack W. Vienola, 19, of 416 Scott street, and Lawrence L. Dunn, 18, of 614 Prospect street, pleaded guilty at their arraignment Dec. 23.

The youths were apprehended in Neenah early Saturday afternoon Dec. 19. The 200 pound safe was found abandoned near High Cliff. The two also admitted breaking into four Oshkosh area homes.

Fire Loss Placed By Chief at $3,500

Neenah — Fire Chief John Zick today estimated damage to building and contents at the Marvin Dickie home, 633 Elm street, at about $3,500. The damage resulted from a fire at the home Wednesday morning in which Dickie was burned on the right arm.

Elected Tuesday to a 4-year term as Winnebago county service officer was Albert Osmus, 40, Oshkosh, above who will succeed William H. Miller. Osmus is a past commander of the Oshkosh American Legion post and served two years in the Navy in World War II. He has been president of the Oshkosh Patriotic council.

North Central Flies 25,380 Out of Winnebago County Airport in 1959

BY ALLAN EKVALL Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Oshkosh — Three 9-passenger Lockheed planes began landing at the Winnebago county airport here and at 13 other cities almost 12 years ago when North Central Airlines, then known as Wisconsin Central Airlines, initiated plane service.

The planes touched down here four times a day as passenger service came to the county airport. Now 14 daily stops are made by planes carrying three to five times the passenger load so that the Winnebago county airport is eighth in the nation for passenger and cargo for cities served exclusively by local airline service.

Last year's figures show that 25,380 passengers boarded North Central Airlines planes from the airport here with an equal number getting off.

North Central came only about 20,000 passengers short of topping the million passenger mark for a year in 1959. Back in 1948 when it began service it carried 11,398 persons.

The three Lockheed 9-passenger planes soon gave way to the familiar DC-3 transport and last April the airline put its 44-passenger Convairs into service. The Convair, with its pressurized and air-conditioned cabin, cruises at 245 to 250 miles an hour as compared with the 160-mile-an-hour cruising speed of the DC-3.

North Central has five of the Convairs in operation now and will be adding seven more in the spring. Backing up these planes are 32 DC-3 planes which now carry 26 passengers each, having been remodeled in 1955 from 21-passenger capacity planes.

The Convair needs a minimum of 4,500 feet for landing under ideal conditions and with a full load. Wind and temperature conditions will increase the amount of landing strip needed. Winnebago county's airport has a 4,800-foot north-south runway and plans are underway for stretching its east-west runway to 6,100 feet.

North Central was founded at Clintonville in late 1947 and began its first flights in February of 1948. Fourteen cities, including Oshkosh, were on its route and it had less than 100 employees. Now it has 1,900 employees and serves 70 cities between Omaha, Neb., and Detroit, Mich.

11 Million Miles in Year Last year it flew just under 11 million miles without a passenger or crew fatality. Its duplicated routes total 7,000, and Carol Lynn, 14,

The airline ranks first among the 13 local service airlines in the country for passenger boarding, mail and express and fourth for air freight, a venture which it entered only last June. During the half year period it carried approximately 106,000 pounds of air freight.

Air mail put on their planes during 1959 added up to 155,000 pounds while about 45,000 pounds of air mail were taken off. Air express sent amounted to 100,000 pounds while taken off incoming planes was 106,000 pounds of air express.

The number of landings made by North Central planes in 1958 was 5,177 while last year the number was slightly less, primarily by the transferring of two stops to the Outagamie county airport at Appleton.

The airline was scarcely more than a year old when it installed its own VHF radio equipment. Plans were drawn up in 1950 to purchase six DC-3 planes and the passenger and cargo volume more than doubled when these planes were put into service in 1951.

Changes Name The name was changed from Wisconsin Central to North Central in 1952 to more correctly identify its service and the general offices were moved then from Madison to Minneapolis. The following year, 1953, saw the extension of plane service to Grand Rapids, Lansing and Detroit, and the increase of the fleet to 19 planes.

Hamilton to Manage Mill

Former Director Of Research for Washington Firm

Neenah — F. R. Hamilton, former research and development director of Simpson-Lee Paper company, Everett, Wash., has been appointed paper mill production manager of Bergstrom Paper company, Vice President Foster P. Doane, Jr., announced today.

The new Bergstrom executive received his bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering in 1937 and master of science degree in 1938 from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. He began his paper career in 1938 with the technical department of Allied Paper mills, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Hamilton became assistant technical director of Allied Paper in 1943; assistant mill superintendent in 1948; and assistant plants superintendent for papermaking in 1949.

Joining Simpson-Lee in 1951 as technical director, he became assistant general superintendent and later general superintendent. Until December 1957, Hamilton was production manager of his company. In 1958 he was appointed director of research and development for Simpson-Lee.

In the Everett community, Hamilton was chairman of his district school board and director of the county board employees. He recently completed two years as chairman of the Pacific coast division of the paper industry management association.

Hamilton is married and has two children, Richard, 18, and Carol Lynn, 14.

Bell, Loehning Enter Race for Neenah Mayor

Former Chief Executive to Oppose Incumbent for Office

Neenah — The political picture broke open today with the announcement of two candidates for mayor.

Seeking the post at the April 5 election will be Mayor Chester S. Bell, the incumbent now in his first term, and Carl E. Loehning who served from 1950 to 1956 as mayor when the post was a part-time office. Bell secured his papers Tuesday afternoon and Loehning today.

Loehning's term as mayor followed 19 years as an alderman of which 10 years was as president of the council. He resigned as alderman in 1950 when he was elected mayor. He declined to run for a fourth term as mayor in 1956 because of a new position and increased duties at the Neenah Paper company division of Kimberly-Clark corporation where he is finishing department foreman.

Chief K-C Attorney Mayor Bell retired from Kimberly - Clark corporation Dec. 20, 1955, after serving 13 years as its chief attorney. He holds his bachelor's degree and doctor of jurisprudence degree from the University of Chicago where he was an honor graduate.

He is a member of the Wisconsin Bar association and the American Bar association and is a former member of the Illinois Bar association. Mayor Bell was for six years chairman of the community chest budget committee and also had been admissions committee chairman, a director and a legislative committee member of the community chest. He also is a past president of the Neenah Kiwanis club.

He also is a member of the executive committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission and chairman of its bylaws committee. He is on the legislative committee of the league.

Now residing at 676 Grove street, Loehning is a World War I veteran and is a charter member of the Hawley-Dieckhoff post of the American Legion of which he also is a past commander.

For 30 years he has been a member of the Winnebago County Veterans Service committee and is secretary of that group. Loehning also was a member of the legislative committee of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities several years and a vice president of the league.

Loehning served from 1931 to 1950 as alderman from the Fifth ward, resigning then to run for mayor. He defeated two other candidates that year and was unopposed in the 1952 and 1954 elections. He was a member of the board of health for 15 years from 1935 to 1950, president of the council from 1940 to 1950 and has served on the cemetery commission since 1956.

He becomes eligible for retirement in March from Kimberly-Clark's Neenah Paper division where he has been employed for 49 years.

He becomes eligible for retirement in March from Kimberly-Clark's Neenah Paper division where he has been employed for 49 years.

Loehning served from 1931 to 1950 as alderman from the Fifth ward, resigning then to run for mayor. He defeated two other candidates that year and was unopposed in the 1952 and 1954 elections. He was a member of the board of health for 15 years from 1935 to 1950, president of the council from 1940 to 1950 and has served on the cemetery commission since 1956.

Employment Shows Jump During Year

Neenah-Menasha Office Reports Improvement

Neenah — Last year while not being a banner year, for employment in Neenah-Menasha did show a marked improvement over 1958. A. P. Engebretson, manager of the Neenah-Menasha district office of the state employment service, reported today.

During the last year 2,243 persons have been hired by Twin City employers through the Neenah-Menasha district office. This is an increase of 133 over 1958 and also exceeds the total of 2,167 in 1957.

Of the people hired last year, 524 were placed in professional and clerical fields, 77 in skilled work, 79 in semi-skilled, 523 in service occupations and 1,050 in unskilled or entry level jobs.

Professional Placement

Marked interest has been shown by many employers in the professional placement activity of the employment service which makes applicants in this field from all areas of the state and surrounding states more readily available for positions of this caliber.

Industrially, 68 openings were filled in construction, 337 in wholesale and retail trades, 119 in service establishments and 156 in private homes.

Only short range forecasts from major employers are available at this time but these do not show any pronounced upturn immediately after the start of the year, however, indications are that mid-year employment will again be up over that of last year.

5 Soviet Doctors Protest Refusal To Release Red

Moscow — Five Soviet doctors Tuesday protested the refusal of U. S. authorities to permit William Z. Foster, former head of the American communist party, to travel to the Soviet Union for medical treatment.

In a letter to the newspaper Medical Worker, they expressed hope that the 78-year-old communist, now said to be bed-ridden at his home in the Bronx, would be allowed to come here.

"We are deeply moved by this rude, inhuman and utterly unjustifiable attitude of the American juridical authorities," they wrote. "We are amazed that such inhuman things are done in a country where there is so much talk about justice and democracy."

They quoted from a letter Foster sent them saying he had suffered a stroke and wanted to travel to Russia with his sick wife. Foster also charged he was a prisoner in New York and "cannot get the necessary treatment despite my grave illness."

Last summer Foster asked court permission to go to Russia for treatment but was refused by a federal district judge. Foster was indicted with other communist leaders in 1948 for conspiracy to overthrow the government. His case never came to trial because of his health and he has remained free under $5,000 bond.

Policemen of The Fox Cities

(This is another in a series of stories on Fox Cities area policemen.)

Leslie L. Parrott, 29, of 669 Elm street, Neenah, joined the Neenah police force May 1, 1953, and was promoted to squad car driver Feb. 2, 1957. He is married and has one son and two daughters.

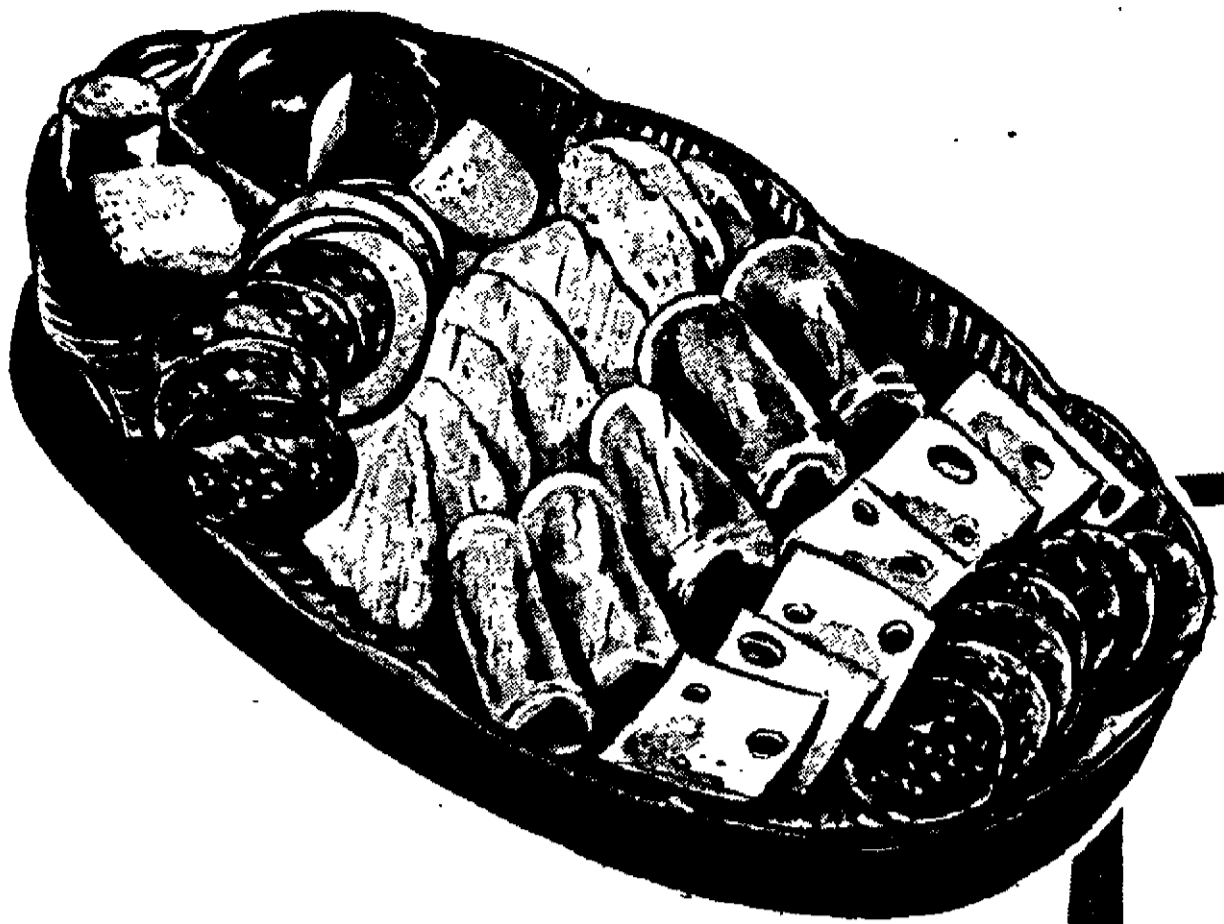

Parrott is a veteran of 34 years in the United States army. His hobbies are hunting and fishing. He formerly worked for De Keyser and Rasmussen Construction company.

Oshkosh Professors To Hear About India

Oshkosh — Dr. Robert D. Judy, a consultant for the United Nations who recently spent five years teaching in India and Pakistan, will speak to the Oshkosh State college chapter of the American association of University Professors Monday.

Judy, professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin, will speak after a 12:15 p.m. luncheon at the Reeve Memorial union. His informal discussion will be on India and the United States.

Poetic Explosions on Paper Result in Book for Resident

Menasha — Imaginative and intuitive thoughts ferment in the mind of a Menasha woman in moments of solitude. When the thoughts have churned, twisted and turned in her mind, they bubble out on paper in the form of poetry.

The most extensive project undertaken by Mrs. Roy Kuehn, route 2, Menasha, as a result of her "poetic explosions on paper" is a completed book of poems. The manuscript, now on its way to a publisher for consideration, is entitled "This Wooing of Strangers."

"Poetry seems to be something you do in spite of yourself," explained the slim, attractive resident, who began writing verses when she was 13 years old and "has been at it ever since."

Achieving her fame in print will not be a new experience to Mrs. Kuehn, who writes under her maiden name, Dorothy Dalton. She has had about 180 poems published in 70 different periodicals and a poem included in an anthology, "New Poets — 1948."

Publications
Her work has appeared in such publications as "New Mexico Quarterly," "Beloit Poetry Journal," "Olivant Quarterly," "The San Francisco Review," "Harlequin" and "Odessey." Light verse has been published in the "American Legion Magazine," "Current Medical Digest," "Writer's Digest," "The Denver Post," "Country Gentleman" and "Printer's Ink."

The poet has between 40 and 60 poems in the mail, causing the postman nearly always to have an envelope or two for her and making the marketing of a writing a constant chore.

"I think poetry is the most exciting thing being written." However if people want pre-digested pieces, then modern poetry isn't for them, she believes. Attempting to explain the fallacious aversion of many people to poetry, Mrs. Kuehn said, "I think many feel they have to have a string of college degrees to enjoy poetry. But, poetry is so much like music and nearly everyone enjoys music."

"People are not sure they should like poetry until the critic says it is good." Only then are they ready to like it, she criticized.

Sound of Words
"An enormous help" to her writing is a birthday gift tape recorder. "I think it improves my work to hear the sound of words," said Mrs. Kuehn, whose speech still bears a trace of her New York childhood.

Although her poems are usually composed in her mind before she sits down to write, she says, "Whenever I have some solitude, I sit down and work." Usually classical music is playing in the background. Her book is dedicated to her husband, who, she says, "enjoys the fact that I write and is very encouraging and understanding."

Listening to the Sound of words via a tape recorder proves an "enormous help" to Mrs. Roy Kuehn, route 2, Menasha, in writing poetry. The resident has had about 180 poems published in 70 different periodicals and now has a book manuscript on its way to a publisher for consideration.

In Collection
Included in the collection is "Love As a Flower," previously published in "Olivant Quarterly."

Love As a Flower
"You dissected love and strung its composite pieces on a string of words."

Chinese-polite you rejected my flowers while praising their colors.

I have since bloomed in other gardens walled in complacency.

One day I will lean over the binding wall and shed my petals like tears.

Although experts might disagree, writing talent seems to be an inheritable trait in the Kuehn family. Stephanie, a fourth grader, leaves daily rhyme messages for her mother on her bedroom blackboard.

"Sometimes she writes the most unusual things. I go up to tidy her room and here will be a little note on the blackboard," recalled her mother, Christine, a seventh grader, wrote an original story for one of her classes.

Poem Request
A note of appreciation or recognition gives a "lift of spirit" to most writers. Alfred Dorn, a New York university instructor and fan of Mrs. Kuehn, has recently requested a poem from her to be included in an anthology to be based on "the dance."

The Kuehn family has lived in Menasha since 1946. Born in New York City, Mrs. Kuehn met her husband when both were stationed with an army medical division in San Luis Obispo, Calif. Several oil paintings decorating her living room illustrate a second talent of Mrs. Kuehn. "My husband is more proud of my painting than poetry. I think he understands it better," she smiled.

Engagement of Anne Kiefer Is Announced

Menasha — Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Kiefer, 834 Emily street, have announced the engagement of their daughter Anne, to Thomas Balthazor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Balthazor, 1201 Harrison street, Neenah.

Miss Kiefer was graduated from St. Mary High school and is employed by Kimberly-Clark corporation. Her fiancé is a student at St. Thomas college, St. Paul Minn.

sary 33-foot strip for the right-of-way for half of Melissa street's southward extension.

The city already has one half of the needed land. The storm sewer to drain the northeast part of the Fourth ward will run south along Melissa or a parallel street.

Du Charme said various owners have stated conditions for releasing their land, but that he had not the power to enter any such agreements without the council's approval.

One owner asked permission to connect to the sanitary sewer from his home, outside the city limits; another's garage stands in the proposed street right-of-way and his house would be very close to the street. Du Charme said that owner wants the city to purchase both house and garage.

Tells Alternatives
Giese advised the council that if the land cannot be secured, the alternatives would be to go to court to condemn the land by right of eminent domain or to replan the sewer route along another street.

In any case, Giese went on, the negotiations should be on the basis of mutual benefit of both city and landowners.

The lands in that area will increase in value with better storm water drainage and with street installation, he said.

Gammey urged trying to solve the present problem before thinking of another route for the storm sewer.

Edward Stinski, the other Fourth ward alderman, said the city cannot afford to wait another three or four years on the project. "If the property north of Ninth street starts to build, there will be even more water. It will cost more with wages and materials going up."

Du Charme promised to work the remainder of the week on the rights-of-way. Stinski also asked a report on flooding in the Eighth and London streets area. One owner there, he said, has complained the new curb-gutter project is being ruined by the flooded street after heavy rain or after the recent thaw.

City Engineer M. J. Noth was directed to prepare the report.

On a total system-wide basis, North Central's first year of operations had 11,398 passengers. The next year, 1949, it carried 32,625, or a 186 per cent gain. It showed steady increase, hitting 96,265 in 1951.

549,654 in 1956, 680,930 in 1957, 777,140 in 1958 and an approximate 980,000 in 1959. Final figures for the 1959 period are not available yet.

It hopes to top the million mark this year.

Kaukauna Woman, Daughter Awarded $3,000 in Damages

Oshkosh — Mrs. Adelle Goldin, 312 W. Ninth street, Kaukauna was awarded $2,763 damages and her daughter, Belle, $237 in county court Tuesday, as the result of injuries sustained in an auto accident on Highway 41 in Wauwatosa in April of 1957.

Mrs. Goldin and her daughter claimed injuries resulted from the negligence of three drivers involved in a line of traffic accident. They were passengers in a car driven by Benjamin Goldin. The others were driven by David H. DeWeert, 620 First street, Menasha and Alta Schoetter, Milwaukee.

The court directed that Mrs. Schoetter's insurance company pay Mrs. Goldin $1,842 and $237 to Miss Golden. Goldin's insurance company was directed to pay $921 to Mrs. Goldin. She had asked $7,500 and her daughter, $2,500.

Mrs. Frayn Utley Gives Background Of World Problems

Neenah — Background information on current world problems to which the United States will be seeking solutions in coming months was summarized for Woman's Tuesday club Tuesday afternoon at Boys' Brigade building.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Frayn Utley, who currently has three radio programs of news and foreign affairs analysis on a Chicago radio station each week.

She listed three basic problems facing the state department and "coming up for decisions" as foreign aid and assistance to underdeveloped countries; the problem of summit meetings and questions to be considered at the summit such as Berlin; and foreign trade.

Discussing the nuclear test ban, Mrs. Utley reported scientists who have been negotiating at Geneva, Switzerland, have run into an impasse on underground testing. Scientists have discovered the difficulty of detecting underground testing at reasonable distances.

She pointed to the great advantage the Soviet Union has in this area with the vast expanse of Siberia for underground testing. In this country, with a correspondent for television camera recording almost every movement, it would be almost impossible to keep testing a secret, she said.

Many people in this country feel it is to our advantage to continue nuclear testing for peaceful as well as military uses, the news analyst said. "It's not as simple as it sounds for a variety of reasons," warned the speaker referring to Mr. Khrushchev's statement on the need for disarmament. The difficulty is Mr. Khrushchev calls for world-wide disarmament without agreeing on a method for controls and inspection, she explained. Khrushchev considers an inspection system in the Soviet Union would be used for espionage, she said.

The speaker, wife of Clifford Utley, reminded that at the end of World War II the United States disarmed quite rapidly while the Russians did not. They have a "tremendous army," predominant over anything Western Europe has. She protested that with even a sizeable disarmament the Russians would still be maintaining a large force.

In her discussion of foreign trade, she provided background information on the European economic community, which is beginning to develop more rapidly in lowering economic barriers. She said we support it because "we felt with economic unity would come political unity in Western Europe."

The Soviet Union would like to have credits in this country, but cannot get the credits until it has paid its war debt of $800 million. "You are seeing a new emphasis on trade and a new emphasis on economic aspects of our competition," she said referring to the contest between the United States and Russia. As the competition is transferred to economics, the military shouldn't be ignored, she warned. Work on nuclear weapons must go on until we have definitive agreements.

"We want our allies to help share the bills" for economic and technical assistance to underdeveloped countries. More and more economic assistance is becoming long term loans, she said. To help in the solution of this problem, we suggested our allies reduce the goods quota system against us and help share economic assistance. She pointed out Great Britain reduced the goods quota barrier and a great influx of American-made articles reached English shops for Christmas.

Church Unit Plans Meetings

Board Okays $115,000 New Highway Building

Winnebago Supervisors Approve Relocating Trunk XX West of Airport

Oshkosh — Winnebago county board members Tuesday afternoon authorized the highway committee to use $115,000 of funds accumulated by the highway department for construction of additional storage facilities at the county garage on Knapp street in Oshkosh.

Plans for the proposed new building, which will be 80 by 140 feet in size, were submitted to the board and explained by Armin W. Knoop of the Sanstedt, Knoop and Yarbrough architectural firm.

Four wooden structures now used for storage will be relocated by the new building which will match the present county garage. The new building will enable the county to store some of its highway equipment in heated shelter during winter months.

Approval of the board also was given to placing County Trunk DW, which is a quarter mile extension of Outagamie County Trunk D, into Winnebago county on the federal aid to secondary road system.

Outagamie county is seeking reconstruction of its road as an FAS project and the board's action indicates that Winnebago county approves such a project.

The Winnebago county portion of the road in the town of Winchester was improved several years ago and is not in need of any work.

Nominations For DSA Award Due on Jan. 12

Deadline Set Back to Secure More Suggestions

Neenah — Deadline for nominating persons for the Outstanding Young Man of the Year award has been changed from Jan. 4 to Jan. 12, Ray Durkee, chairman of the project for the Neenah-Menasha Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today.

candidates, thus making a more thorough search of the Twin Cities.

Candidates for the honor must be between 21 and 25 years of age, outstanding in community service and in their work. The winner will be honored along with three outstanding high school senior boys, one from each local high school, at the annual Distinguished Service award banquet Jan. 25 at the Elks club.

The banquet will highlight Jaycee week which will be observed by local and nationwide Jaycee organizations Jan. 17 to 24.

Six professional and businessmen of the Twin Cities have been selected as judges for the contest. Their names will be announced at the banquet.

Nomination blanks can be obtained at the four Twin City banks or by contacting Lew Ake. They are to be sent to him at 511 1/2 Keyes street, Menasha.

Durkee urged the public to nominate a candidate since there are many eligible and deserving persons in that age group who could be nominated. He asked that the completed blanks be turned in immediately.

New Salary Survey For County Ordered

Board Requests State Personnel Bureau to Make Recommendations

Oshkosh — A new salary survey was voted by the Winnebago county board Tuesday afternoon at the request

King Carpenter of its personnel committee chairman, Supv. Orrin King, Oshkosh.

King said the courthouse employees association had asked for such a survey, adding that many employees were at the top of their bracket under the present scale and had not received any salary increases for several years.

The last survey was made in 1955. The survey is to be made by the state bureau of personnel and probably cannot be undertaken until sometime next year, King said.

He mentioned that Winnebago county salaries were below those of several other surrounding counties which were smaller in size.

Supv. Max Carpenter cited that the income of farmers was decreasing while steel workers and many others were getting salary boosts and costs kept going up.

Board members also approved certifying to the state retirement fund that various employees who had reached the age of 65 years were still needed in the county's employment.

Automatic Retirement

King mentioned that a proposed resolution to require automatic retirement in the year after an employee reaches the age of 65 was still being studied by the personnel committee which wanted to meet with various department heads regarding an automatic retirement.

The board referred to its taxation committee and the district attorney a letter from an Oshkosh abstract firm which contended the county was liable because a partial income tax lien release was not recorded as partial in the index book of the register of deeds office.

Register of Deeds Bernice L. Fuller refuted that there was any liability of the county or that her office had made any mistake. The federal government made the mistake in sending through a partial release on the form of a complete release. The federal government uses both forms which are clearly identifiable as to the type of release, she said.

There was no indication to the person listing the document in the index book that the document was anything other than a full release and it was listed as the document read, the board was told.

The abstract company employee, she continued, should have checked the document itself for information and not taken what is in the index, which is merely a listing of where to find the document.

The amount involved was about $8,900.

To read over every word in every document filed with the register of deeds would require another 15 clerks in that office, Supv. Virginia Nolan, Oshkosh, commented. It is not the fault of the register of deeds office if somebody else makes a mistake, other supervisors remarked as they said they failed to see where the county had any liability.

Board Lauds Work Of Late Supervisor

Oshkosh — A memorial to William Caswell, supervisor from the town of Nepeuskun, who died late last year, was approved at the Tuesday afternoon session of the Winnebago county board.

Caswell as a supervisor for many years and was chairman of the highway committee. The resolution praised his valuable service to the board and his ability as highway committee chairman, as well as his sense of deep responsibility toward his duties.

The resolution was drawn by Supvs. A. J. Kornder, Oshkosh; Max Carpenter, town of Rushford; and John T. Heigl, Neenah.

Landscaping Plans Topic at First Short Course Session

Oshkosh — No two people will apply identical landscape plans surrounding a home.

This was the general theme in the first session of a landscaping short course series being conducted by the agricultural extension service of the University of Wisconsin and area county agents here Monday night.

George Ziegler, agriculture extension landscape specialist from the University of Wisconsin, emphasized the importance of locating shrubs of a size and color in accordance with the area where they are to be planted.

He declared that the entrance to the home is most important and that a minimum of a larger type shrubs are in order.

Hide Foundations Ziegler pointed out that shrubbery can be used to minimize blank wall space and to hide high foundations. A tree in the front of a house should be sufficiently open so that the design of the house can be seen through it, he went on to say. The speaker added that where the space permits, trees may be planted in which they live.

located on each end of the house in preference to the front.

The landscape specialist also declared that a single tree in the back yard should be on one side or the other but not in the center of the lot and shrubs can be planted which add fall color and which may carry winter fruits for bird attraction.

Two More Sessions The course was organized by Vernon Peroutky, Winnebago county agent in cooperation with agents from Outagamie, Fond du Lac and Waupaca counties. The next two sessions will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 11 and 18 at the Raulf hotel.

Next week's session will dwell on lawns with discussion centering on insects, diseases, lawn seed varieties and general lawn management.

The last meeting will be devoted to shrubbery and shade tree management. Persons attending future sessions, who wish to participate in the 8:30 p.m. dinner, are to make reservations in the speaker added that where the space permits, trees may be planted in which they live.

Chicago Girl Stabbed To Death in Her Home

Chicago — Mrs. Margaret Conrad returning from work Monday found her 13-year-old daughter stabbed to death on the floor of their south side home.

Police said the girl, Margaret Nowicki, had been stabbed with a bread knife which still was in the wound. She was clad in underclothing. Her wrists were bruised and police said she may have been tied with a rope.

Police said they were seeking the victim's stepfather Edwin Conrad, 39, a pipefitter for questioning. They said they found some of his clothes missing. Money kept in a bedroom and Conrad's car also were missing.

Attempted Murder Conviction Upheld

Madison — The attempted murder conviction of Ralph Damms, a 36-year-old Milwaukee television repairman, was upheld Tuesday by the state supreme court.

Damms was sentenced to a term of not more than 10 years in the state prison by Judge Scott Lowry in Waukesha municipal court. Damms contended in his ap peal that state evidence had failed to establish his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

The court convicted him of an attempt to shoot his estranged wife, Marjory. A jury found that Damms apparently did not know the gun was empty.

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "She stooped down and picked up the paper." Omit "down" since "stoop" means to bend forward and DOWN.

Often Mispronounced: Corroborate. Pronounce second syllable as "rob" and not as "robe."

Often Misspelled: The past tense of "broadcast" is "broadcast," and not "broad-casted," sometimes heard.

Synonyms: Abolish, annul, abrogate, nullify, revoke, repeal, rescind.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: pyrrhic victory; a success gained at too great cost, in allusion to remarks by Pyrrhus, King of Epirus, after his costly victory over the Romans at Asculum in 279 B. C. (Pronounce peer-ick) "Considering the unsavory reputation he has gained, his success in the business might be considered a Pyrrhic victory at best."

Neenah Host to Menasha High In Frosh Test

Neenah — The Neenah and Menasha frosh squads swing back into action, meeting each other at 4 p.m. Thursday at Neenah High school's old gym.

The Rockets are unbeaten in three league games while Menasha has two league losses and a non-conference win over Little Chute St. John.

Menasha won last year's two meetings 33-31 and 40-39 to extend its win string to five straight over its intercity rival. The second game, at Neenah, was won on Paul Laus' long jump shot with one second left.

Neenah starters are Dave Neubauer, Dick Kuehl, Howard Thomas, Joe Began and George Massey. Menasha's lineup will be chosen from Marty Stahl, Dennis Doverspike, Bill Herrbold, Tom Konkol, Jim Flynn, "Rocky" Gmeiner and Phil Strong.

9-1 Vote Passes Pay Ruling for Menasha

Amounts to 2 Per Cent Increases for Most City Employees, 2 Adjustments

Menasha — The 1960 salary ordinance, carrying pay raises of 2 per cent for most city employees, was adopted 9-1 Tuesday by the Menasha common council.

On the roll call vote, Ald. Edward Stinski cast the only dissenting vote. After the meeting, he said he voted "no" because he favored a 3 per cent across-the-board increase.

The city aldermen's yearly pay — $960 each — was unchanged by the new ordinance, retroactive to Jan. 1.

New salaries are mayor, $6,560; city clerk, $6,426; treasurer, $6,197; deputy treasurer, $5,375; bookkeeper, $5,222; payroll clerk, $4,160; stenographer - typist, $3,669; janitress, $2,344; city attorney, $5,673; city engineer, $8,373; assistant engineer, $5,250 (up from $4,950, an adjustment);

Some Unchanged Assessor, $5,967; assistant assessor, $5,000 (up from $4,500, another adjustment); police justice, $2,040; health officer, $4,704; city nurse, $5,508; building, plumbing and heating inspector, $5,100; city physician, $1,625 (no change); park superintendent, $8,015; recreation director, $5,100; electrical inspector, $1,800; city sealer of weights and measures, $1,080; dog catcher, $1,200 (no change); park-recreation bookkeeper, $2,325 (half from each department).

Police and fire chiefs will receive $6,503 each; their captains, $5,750 each; police sergeants, the police lieutenant and fire lieutenants, $5,400 each; police and drivers, $5,171 each; patrolmen and firemen, $5,025; and beginning men, $4,355, patrolmen and firemen, $5,025; and beginning men, $4,355.

Raises amounted to 2 per cent for chiefs, drivers, patrolmen and firemen. The intermediate ranks received about 2.9 per cent increases. Aldermen last month complied with a request from the police to give those ranks a better spread.

The chief brigetender will receive $4,656 a year; the six assistants, $2,981 each (8-month posts); and the relief man, $921 (for 21 months).

Members of the board of review will receive $15 a day; election chairmen, $18; election inspectors, $17.50; and ballot clerks, $17.50.

Clothing allowances for new policemen will be $150 the first year and $50 for those in second or later years; new firemen, $50 the first year and $37.50 later years.

Half of the city employees' medical insurance will be paid by the city.

Sick Leave Five days' sick leave will be granted all full time salaries after one full year of work. For less than a year, it is 10 hours per 3 months worked.

Additional sick leave will be at the rate of 5 days for those with 10 to 20 years' service and 10 days for those with more than 20 years. Up to 5 days of unused sick leave may be transferred to the following year.

Two weeks' vacation will be given after one full year of service, if reached by July 1. If the year is completed between July 1 and Nov. 1, one week will be given. After 15 years of service, three weeks of vacation will be allowed.

Immediately after the salary ordinance's adoption, Ald. Gordon Schanke moved that Mayor R. G. DuCharme set up a committee to prepare a program for each unit of the city government to promote salary minimum and maximum schedules based on time and merit.

His proposal means that new employees would be hired at a reduced rate, and will reach the allowed maximum for any post after becoming proficient, as in private industry. The motion was carried.

Menasha — The 1960 salary ordinance, carrying pay raises of 2 per cent for most city employees, was adopted 9-1 Tuesday by the Menasha common council.

The city aldermen's yearly pay — $960 each — was unchanged by the new ordinance, retroactive to Jan. 1.

New salaries are mayor, $6,560; city clerk, $6,426; treasurer, $6,197; deputy treasurer, $5,375; bookkeeper, $5,222; payroll clerk, $4,160; stenographer - typist, $3,669; janitress, $2,344; city attorney, $5,673; city engineer, $8,373; assistant engineer, $5,250 (up from $4,950, an adjustment);

Some Unchanged Assessor, $5,967; assistant assessor, $5,000 (up from $4,500, another adjustment); police justice, $2,040; health officer, $4,704; city nurse, $5,508; building, plumbing and heating inspector, $5,100; city physician, $1,625 (no change); park superintendent, $8,015; recreation director, $5,100; electrical inspector, $1,800; city sealer of weights and measures, $1,080; dog catcher, $1,200 (no change); park-recreation bookkeeper, $2,325 (half from each department).

Police and fire chiefs will receive $6,503 each; their captains, $5,750 each; police sergeants, the police lieutenant and fire lieutenants, $5,400 each; police and drivers, $5,171 each; patrolmen and firemen, $5,025; and beginning men, $4,355, patrolmen and firemen, $5,025; and beginning men, $4,355.

Raises amounted to 2 per cent for chiefs, drivers, patrolmen and firemen. The intermediate ranks received about 2.9 per cent increases. Aldermen last month complied with a request from the police to give those ranks a better spread.

The chief brigetender will receive $4,656 a year; the six assistants, $2,981 each (8-month posts); and the relief man, $921 (for 21 months).

Members of the board of review will receive $15 a day; election chairmen, $18; election inspectors, $17.50; and ballot clerks, $17.50.

Clothing allowances for new policemen will be $150 the first year and $50 for those in second or later years; new firemen, $50 the first year and $37.50 later years.

Half of the city employees' medical insurance will be paid by the city.

Sick Leave Five days' sick leave will be granted all full time salaries after one full year of work. For less than a year, it is 10 hours per 3 months worked.

Additional sick leave will be at the rate of 5 days for those with 10 to 20 years' service and 10 days for those with more than 20 years. Up to 5 days of unused sick leave may be transferred to the following year.

Two weeks' vacation will be given after one full year of service, if reached by July 1. If the year is completed between July 1 and Nov. 1, one week will be given. After 15 years of service, three weeks of vacation will be allowed.

Immediately after the salary ordinance's adoption, Ald. Gordon Schanke moved that Mayor R. G. DuCharme set up a committee to prepare a program for each unit of the city government to promote salary minimum and maximum schedules based on time and merit.

His proposal means that new employees would be hired at a reduced rate, and will reach the allowed maximum for any post after becoming proficient, as in private industry. The motion was carried.

Menasha — The 1960 salary ordinance, carrying pay raises of 2 per cent for most city employees, was adopted 9-1 Tuesday by the Menasha common council.

On the roll call vote, Ald. Edward Stinski cast the only dissenting vote. After the meeting, he said he voted "no" because he favored a 3 per cent across-the-board increase.

Featherbedding Controversy May Cause Severe Rail Strike

Too Many Workers, Say Bosses; Fewer Than Before, Say Unions

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Protagonists in the bitter struggle over featherbedding in the nation's railroad industry have worked hard to convince the public what it is witnessing is a modern version of "The Great Train Robbery."

In the pioneer movie, produced by inventor Thomas A. Edison in 1903, it was easy to tell villains from victims because the robbers wore black masks.

Today, amid conflicting statements from both sides, it is by no means clear who is getting robbed.

The industry says its pockets are being picked at a rate of $500 million a year by obsolete pay rules and featherbedding practices — the forced employment of unneeded workers.

Useless Employees

The railroads complain bitterly of payrolls swollen with "firemen who tend no fires" on diesel locomotives and "brakemen who handle no

The featherbedding controversy is kicking up clouds of dust in the railroad industry where it threatens a nationwide strike. Here, beginning a 3-part series on the country's labor problems, the issues are explored in depth.

As another exhibit, industry cites the case of an engineer on the fast New York-Washington run who covers the 450-mile round trip in less than eight hours and collects 4 1/2 days' pay, $96.

(His wages are based on the long-established rule of a basic day's pay for each 100 miles.)

"All we ask is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay," says the industry.

Unions Retaliate

The rail unions, hostile denying charges of featherbedding, retort that if the so-called obsolete pay rules were modernized — with railroad employees paid in line with standards prevailing in other industries — it would cost management an additional billion dollars a year.

Thus unions argue that rail workers, instead of being featherbedders, are actually "victims of a billion-dollar bed of thorns."

Union spokesmen further contend the railroads' troubles stem from "management featherbedding," with too many bonus-padded chiefs and not enough Indians to keep trains operating efficiently.

"They want to cut their payrolls until there is nobody left except the executives who sit around figuring out stock-bonus plans for themselves," says Guy L. Brown, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Bosses' Ideas

The unions also declare the 100-mile pay system was set up by the railroads themselves as an incentive toward speedier transportation. In other words, the faster an engineer drove his train over the road, the quicker he was entitled to a day's pay — and ed 1,698,769 workers in 1929, today it has barely 810,000.

Hard hit by fierce competition from trucks, busses and airlines, railroads are now seeking to eliminate firemen on diesel-drawn freight trains — but not on passenger trains — and modify mileage — pay rates dating back to the era of the steam — snorting iron horse.

Promote Pay Cuts?

Union spokesmen insist the industry is conducting a multi-million dollar propaganda campaign trying to brainwash the public to believe U. S. railroads are floundering in red ink. The object, they say, is to justify pay cuts.

Chairman G. E. Leighty of the Railway Labor Executives association says that even during the 1958 business slump the railroads, "despite their poverty cries, showed profits which exceeded those in many previous years."

AFL-CIO President George Meany has pledged full support for the rail unions in their fight on the featherbedding issue, declaring "the existence of the trade union movement" is at stake.

Meany says government figures show the railroads are moving more traffic today with only half as many employees as 25 years ago.

"That is the answer to their argument of featherbedding," he says.

Four Drivers Deny Drunken Driving Counts

Walter H. Pingel, 63, E. Main street, Medina, posted $165 for trial May 5 on the charge and one of making an illegal right turn.

Pingel was arrested by state police Thursday evening after he turned onto Highway 41 from County Trunk A and sideswiped an oncoming car on the wrong side of the highway.

Ambrose M. Tate, 31, of 1715 W. Summer street, posted $150 bond for trial May 4. He was arrested by Appleton police after an accident Thursday at Division and Summer streets.

Elmer C. Schroeder, 58, of 1706 S. Kernan avenue, posted $150 bond for trial May 25. He was arrested by Appleton police Dec. 24 after his car hit a truck parked to dump snow in the millrace in the 600 block of S. Lowe street.

Vilas C. Boyce, 47, of 106 N. Main street, Oshkosh, was fined $10 and charged four points for driving without a driver's license and posted $118.95 for trial May 5, on the drunken driving charge. He was arrested by state police after his car crossed over the center line on a Highway 45 curve a mile west of County Trunk T about 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

been chosen by the Appleton Board of Realtors. They are: Norman Hall, Robert Kennedy and Otto Bytof.

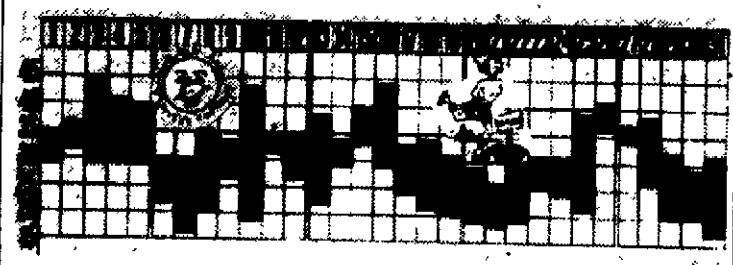

The three will submit a single report to the board of public works which then will negotiate with the landowners for the properties. The land is needed to extend Franklin street from Division to Richmond streets.

Unseasonal Precipitation in December, Mild Temperature

Unusually mild weather, even warmer than that of November and unseasonal precipitation, including heavy rainfall late in the month, provided tippy-turvy weather in December.

Clear days predominated for the first two-thirds of the month with much cloudiness thereafter. Winds were moderate. There were a number of days with fog.

Thawing was common during daytime hours throughout the month. No severe nighttime lows occurred, not even a zero or colder, as is more usual for December. Daily temperatures were consistently above their respective normals and as much as 17 degrees above normal one day. As averaged, the monthly mean of 29.9 degrees was 7.7 degrees higher than the 58-year December average. It was the warmest December since 1939 and the fifth warmest since 1901.

Precipitation was virtually non-existent until Dec. 22. Thereafter an even three inches fell during the last ten days, with a monthly total of more than twice the 58-year December normal and the greatest December total since a 3.61 inch fall in 1921. Of this amount, 2.3 inches fell as rain on the 27th and 28th, with localized flooding.

Snowfall was higher than the December average and snow cover lasted only long enough to provide typical Christmas surroundings at the right time.

Heating degree day totals in December were 1,079, compared to a normal of 1,318 for this month. This was even less than the 1,125 for November. The seasonal total since Sept. 1 was 2,924, still in excess of the comparable 2,802 normal for this 4-month period.

The price agreed on was $4,000 an acre. Mrs. Anna Grieshaber Armstrong, the owner, will furnish a survey of the parcel to determine the exact acreage, an abstract and a warranty deed before the agreement will be completed.

The site is just east of Telulah park and north of Newberry street.

Water Delay To Extension Unavoidable

Committee Says Immediate Service Was Not Promised

Appleton will not be able to supply water to the Midway road University of Wisconsin Menasha Extension center site until late in the spring, the street and sanitation committee has told Architects Irion and Reinke, Oshkosh.

The firm wrote the city two weeks ago, complaining that it had promised to furnish water to the site when it would be necessary for construction.

Committee members, however, disagreed with the firm's interpretation of city intention. Said one: "My interpretation was we agreed to have water there when school starts in September." Said another: "I had no idea there was any time limit."

April 1, Earliest
Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said the water main project would not be ready for bids until Feb. 17, at the earliest, and construction could not begin until April 1, at the earliest.

The architects complained they are in desperate need of water for plastering, plumbing and other construction jobs. Up to now, water has been hauled to the site by truck, but huge water supplies are needed now for final stages of interior construction work, they said.

The committee recommended vacating an alley platted between Marquette street and Glendale avenue west of Linwood avenue. The plat is in the process of being changed by the owner, Christian Vanden Heuvel.

Sewer, Water

Sewer and water mains and grading and graveling for the entire Sunny Acres plat on the south side were recommended included in work for 1960. The request was made by Ald. Robert Stumpf.

Robert Thompson, engineering department employee, and Duszynski were granted permission to attend the UW engineering institute on industrial wastes in Madison, Jan. 12 to 13.

Two homeowners, Harold Lausman, 1425 N. Douglas street, and Frank Krueger, 1419 N. Douglas street, complained to the committee their basements flooded severely during heavy rainstorms and thaws.

Both men asked the city to investigate their problem during the next storm so a solution can be reached. The committee agreed.

Bellaire Court

Residents of Bellaire court who asked for a revision of snow plowing plans were told the city would do its best to keep the dead end area free of plowed snow, but that during heavy falls, it is almost impossible. If the resident insist, plowed snow will be removed with city equipment at the residents' expense, the committee said.

The Rev. H. E. Simon, pastor of Faith Lutheran church and representative of the Missouri synod district missions committee, was told it is inadvisable to extend sewers to the church's property in the Schaefer plat using existing nearby sewers. Topography of the land would make it more advisable to plan sewers for the entire plat, when it is completed, the committee said.

Little World of Undertaker's Assistant Both Zany, Comical ("Billy Liar," by Keith Liver them properly as he is paid to do.

He makes up gags for his vaudeville act at the pub, has half in Ambrosia, feet on the ground and head in the clouds, zany, cockeyed, him. And he would be all the screwy and poignantly happier to clear out of town since his love affairs have trapped him in a desperate state from which almost his only escape is flight to his imaginary Ambrosia where town but he has his heart set on London, a 4-hour train Ambrosia machinegun and ride south.

He isn't quite wholly and absolutely honest when he gets into the company's all three at one and the same time, and on one and greatest pains not to mail him the same engagement ring, portant letters that it would his fiancées; and the Witch's be much easier to drop in his postbox. It's almost as passion pills and his pawing hard for him to dispose of 200 expensive advertising calendars at the dump and down the drain and elsewhere, and get himself in wrong with the from England's least Angry boss, as it would be to do-
